Divided, Troubled World Celebrates Easter

Rites In Many Tongues Held At Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — This holy city, thronged with pilgrims from distant lands, hailed the Resurrection of Christ on this Easter Sunday with joyous hymns and the pealing of bells.

Warm spring sunshine flooded the hills of Palestine as a handful of worshippers stood in the garden before a rough-hewn tomb, that tradition says held Christ's body, and heard the words: "He is not here, but is risen."

Many of the services the pilgrims attended were much the same as they would have been at home except they were held near the actual scenes of Christ's crucifixion and burial almost 20 centuries ago.

And inside Jerusalem's ancient walls there were none of the chocolate rabbits and new Easter bunnies of the West — only the deeply awesome services in many tongues.

Shortly after daybreak in the age-old Church of the Holy Sepulchre — which Christians believe was built over the scenes of Christ's death and ascension — Roman Catholics assembled for Pontifical High Mass a few steps from Calvary.

Anglicans received Holy Communion in St. George's Cathedral near the walls of the Old City, also a few steps from Calvary. Lutherans heard the Easter services in Arabic and German. Others stood at the foot of the Mount of Olives where Jesus underwent His final agony on the eve of His crucifixion.

The simplest ceremony was one held outside the city walls by a group of Protestants who believe Jesus was buried in the so-called garden tomb unearthed 79 years ago. They prayed outside the rudely made crypt, near the skull-like hill — which many of Jerusalem's residents consider accursed although they do not know why — that might have been Calvary.

Argentine Navy Opposes Guido

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentina's smoldering national crisis flared anew Sunday night. The navy openly sided with army units opposing President Jose Maria Guido and declared Guido must wipe out Peronist election victories.

The navy's move, expressed in a bulletin to all naval commands, renewed the pressures that only Saturday had brought the country to the brink of civil war.

The bulletin said the navy had reached a "firm decision to insist by all means at its reach" that Guido honor what it called his pledge to nullify the March 18 election victories of followers of exiled dictator Juan D. Peron. It was the navy that led the military revolt which overthrew Peron in 1955.

Thanks to a truce arranged Saturday by Guido between military leaders at odds over the election issue, Argentina won a breathing spell in a situation that threatened to explode into a shooting war between different factions of the armed forces.

But the navy's move sent tensions soaring once more among the nation's top military circles.

Barbara Powers In Good Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barbara Powers, wife of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, was reported in good condition Sunday at Georgetown University Hospital where she was taken Friday in a coma.

"No diagnosis of her illness has been made, a hospital spokesman said. When she was admitted police said she was reported to have taken an overdose of nembutal tablets, a sleep-inducing barbiturate. She regained consciousness later the same day.

New Yorkers and visitors to the metropolis jammed Fifth Avenue from sidewalk to sidewalk yesterday in the traditional Easter display of finery and frills. This view of the crowded avenue looks north from about 49th street in the Rockefeller Center area of Manhattan, focal point for the annual gathering. St. Patrick's Cathedral is at the right. ## OAS Attacks Go On Under New Leader

ALGIERS (UPI) — The Se-day and Europeans generally cret Army Organization (OAS) stayed indoors. But by late evening Sunday and blew up the newspaper Echo D'Alger to show that the terrorist group remains a power despite the arrest of its leader, Raoul Salan.

Four Moslems were killed and four wounded in the bakery attack. No casualties were reported in the newspaper attack although Jean Pietri, 77, a watchman, died of a heart attack just before the explosion when the OAS threatened him and locked him in his apartment.

Two bombs exploded in the newspaper around 6:30 p.m. one at the entrance to the newspaper's underground printing plant and the other downstairs among the presses. The explosions touched off a fire that was raging an hour afterwards.

The terror attacks came during a day of scattered violence to make good on the OAS boast it can still strike "where he want, when we want, whom we want." The attacks marked the first anniversary of the abortive "generals' revolt" led by Salan and three other renegade generals.

It was the second bombing of a newspaper in Algiers. The Echo's printing press had been unused since just after the revolt in April 1961 when French authorities suspended publication. A bomb hit the Journal D'Alger April 17, wrecking the building's interior. It has not printed since.

Laos Mission Seeks Support Of Neighbors

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The royal government's leaders will aid to Wednesday to visit U.S. allies in Asia and explain their bitter opposition to Washington's pressure for a coalition regime.

Premier Prince Boun Oum and his strongman deputy, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, hope to enlist support in such nations as Thailand and South Viet Nam for their stand against any regime headed by neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma.

"Our great friends are situated far away and do not understand us," said Acting Foreign Minister Sisouk Na Champassak. "Therefore we are going to visit our small friends and neighbors, not to seek money, but to look for active and effective comprehension."

The United States has held up its $3 million-a-month financial aid to put pressure on the royal government to join a coalition under Souvanna Phouma in which the pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas will be represented.

The government has stubbornly refused, contending Souvanna is dominated by the pro-Communist faction of his half brother, Prince Souphannouvong. Under such an arrangement the government said it fears the country will be eventually thrown into the Communists' lap.

The United States disagreed and firmly backed Souvanna as the most suitable to lead this divided country, torn by civil war, back to normalcy.

Sisouk said the 10-man delegation will visit Thailand April 25-28, South Viet Nam May 5-7, and Malaysia May 7-10.

Sisouk said South Korea and Formosa agreed to receive the delegation but no dates have yet been fixed. He added the government intends to approach the Philippines to arrange for a visit.

Shah, Empress Visit Seattle World Fair

SEATTLE (UPI) — The Seattle World Fair, one day old and surprisingly ready for show, entertained the Shah and Empress of Iran Sunday.

Mohammed Reza Pahlavi and his beautiful Empress Farah were escorted to the fairgrounds at 9:30 a.m., a half-hour before the gates opened to the public. The Shah and Empress arrived Saturday night and were greeted at the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport by Gov. Albert D. Rosellini and Seattle Mayor Gordon S. Clinton and their wives.

Pontiff Warns Godlessness Perils Peace

By The Associated Press
Christians the world over Sunday freed themselves of the somber restrictions of the 40-day Lenten season in a panorama of religious pageantry marking the Resurrection of Christ from the dead 20 centuries ago.

The mode of rejoicing on the anniversary of the most festive day in the Christian calendar was evidenced in as many ways as there are nationalities and geographic divisions on the earth.

There were twilight services conducted in cathedrals, outdoor arenas, small chapels, public parks and even makeshift churches set up in distant outposts to accommodate those far from their homes on military or other duty.

In almost all instances there were two major similarities—the full appreciation of the religious connotation of the feast and sunny skies and balmy weather.

President Kennedy took his wife and two small children to his father's Florida residence for a private Easter Sunday Mass.

Pope Addresses 250,000

Pope John XXIII climaxed several days of presiding at Holy Week services in celebrating a joyous Easter Mass in Rome's St. Peter's Basilica. About 30,000 persons attended.

The pontiff then walked to the balcony of St. Peter's and addressed more than 250,000 persons in the courtyard below. He sounded a somber warning against a Godlessness which he said could break the peace.

He said the peace of the world was threatened and reminded that "All people tremble at the thought it could be lost."

In New York City, site of the annual Easter Sunday parade, an estimated one million persons strutted up and down Fifth Avenue. The wide thoroughfare was closed to vehicular traffic a distance of 15 blocks. The mercury reached 86 degrees, a record high for the date.

Many of those who marched in their Easter finery took up the cadence after leaving morning services.

Church Services In China

The solemnity of the Christian occasion even left its mark in Communist China, where reports from the New China News Agency in Tokyo said church services were conducted and chocolate Easter eggs were sold.

Both Christians and Communists observed a day of celebration throughout Cuba. The Christians went to church in large numbers; the Communists paid homage to Lenin.

Roman Catholics and Protestants crowded into Havana churches. One Roman Catholic said, "There were more people at Easter Mass this year than ever before."

The Communists observed the 92nd anniversary of the birth of Nikolai Lenin, the Russian revolutionary who founded the Soviet Union.

29 U.S. 'Copters Aid Vietnamese

AN HUU, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two full companies of U.S. military helicopters — the largest helicopter force yet used in South Viet Nam — spent Easter Sunday shuttling Vietnamese troops in a mopping-up operation in the Mekong River delta. In all, 29 helicopters were used.

It was the first combat mission carried out by the U.S. Marine Corps helicopter company in South Viet Nam since it arrived last weekend. It also was the heaviest use of combined helicopter movement and air support seen in the war against Communist guerrillas so far.

Casualties were modest. At the end of the day, only two Viet Cong definitely had been killed and two wounded. About 20 prisoners suspected of being Viet Cong were taken. The government suffered only one casualty — a Vietnamese soldier who stepped on a sharp-edged foot trap.

About 1,200 Vietnamese troops, half of whom were airlifted to their targets, participated in a sweep of canals and villages 80 miles southeast of Saigon in Bien Phong Province.

Three Boys Feared Lost In Ga. Cave

TRENTON, Ga. (UPI) — More than 100 searchers combed the dark, winding passages of a cave at the foot of Lookout Mountain Sunday for three college students believed lost in the cavern for almost two days.

Authorities Sunday night flooded the rugged, mountainous area near this northwest tip of Georgia where the youths' car was discovered early Sunday. A contingent of the missing students' fraternity brothers arrived to help with the search.

Workers discovered a huge underground lake which hampered search in the labyrinth of passageways that snaked through the mountain. Seasoned spelunkers said some of the caves extend for miles from the entrance.

Dade County Sheriff Allison Blevins, who directed the search, identified the youths as Bill Barbee and James H. Mason, both of Atlanta, and Martin Huddleston of Ormond Beach, Fla. All are 19.

Supreme Soviet To Meet Today

MOSCOW (AP) — The Supreme Soviet meets Monday to place Premier Khrushchev once more at the helm of the government and perhaps hear him deliver a major speech on domestic and world affairs.

Western diplomats will be listening carefully for signs of any new initiatives in the cold war. They expect him to use the meeting of the newly elected Parliament to denounce against the U.S. decision to resume nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

Parliament will have the task of choosing a new government, although in practice that selection is made from the top, rather than from the bottom.

The makeup of the Cabinet is expected to be largely the same, but one member expected to be ousted is Ekaterina Furtseva, the only woman minister.

Woman-Beating Sadist Terrorizes Ark. Town

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A sadist who beats women in their sleep has struck fear into the people of this mountain town, home of the University of Arkansas.

Five women have been attacked and savagely beaten since Christmas. Police have doubled their patrols and say they are doing their best to catch the attacker before he commits murder.

The latest beating — last Thursday — was one of the most brutal. A 74-year-old woman was attacked by a man who leaped out of the shadows as she walked to work at the University of Arkansas Student Union at 5 a.m.

He knocked her to the ground and beat her with his fist, breaking her cheekbone. She was hospitalized.

Police Chief Hollis Spencer said he has evidence that indicates the man is connected with the univer-

Burgess Scoffs At British Alert He Plans Return

MOSCOW (AP) — Guy Burgess laughed Sunday at Scotland Yard reports that he and another runaway British diplomat, Donald Maclean, were planning to return to England.

Chain-smoking Russian cigarettes, he told reporters at the Ukraine hotel: "What a splendid uproar about nothing. Both Maclean and I are staying in the Soviet Union. This is our home. I do not often see Maclean but I know that he and I are both staying here."

Scotland Yard has said there was reason to believe the two Foreign Office officials who defected to the Soviet Union in 1951 planned to return home and got out arrest warrants for them last week.

Burgess, looking tanned and fit, returned Sunday from a holiday at Yalta on the Black Sea.

"I heard these reports on the radio and was worried about their effect on my mother. So I came back to Moscow," he said.

Asked why he thought Scotland Yard had requested the warrants, Burgess said: "I am delighted to hear the British government and the attorney-general, Manningham Buller, are frightened at my returning."

Rocket Poised For Moon Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States Sunday went ahead with plans to shoot a television-carrying probe at the moon Monday, despite technical problems in the 10-story launching rocket.

A silvery Atlas-Agena-B rocket was poised on its firing pad for the attempt to send Ranger-4 on the 60-hour journey.

The 730-pound probe will attempt to end a series of frustrating U.S. moonshot failures by taking close-up pictures of the moon and by landing a rugged ball of instruments on the lunar surface itself.

The projected tests will be the first in the atmosphere by the United States in more than three years.

Three Negroes Try To Integrate Church

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — Three Negro students who attempted to attend Easter services at an all-white church here Sunday were hauled from their pews by police after they refused the white minister's plea to leave.

Police arrested the three — all students at Talladega College — for trespassing after a warning. The three arrested were among 18 persons from the predominantly Negro college who split up into small groups Sunday and attempted to "kneel-in" at six churches in this racially troubled town.

Aerial Tests May Resume Wednesday

Tryout Of Nuclear Antisub Weapon Also Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Present government plans call for a submarine-launched Polaris missile with a live nuclear warhead to be tested in the U.S. atomic series in the Pacific, it was learned Sunday night.

It was also learned from well-informed sources that a new type antisubmarine weapon with an atomic warhead will be given a live test in an under-ocean shot if current plans are carried out.

The nuclear tests are scheduled to start in a few days unless there is some last minute Soviet agreement to an inspected ban on nuclear testing. Tentative date for test renewal is April 25—Wednesday.

The Polaris warhead and the antisubmarine weapon would be the first missile-carried nuclear weapon tested by the United States.

The Navy has two new antisubmarine weapons — ASROC and SUBROC — and it was not established which would be fired.

Carried Aboard Destroyers
ASROC, for antisubmarine rocket, is carried aboard destroyers. SUBROC, submarine rocket, is to be carried by submarines for launching against other submarines.

SUBROC is designed to be launched from beneath the surface to streak through the air and dive back beneath the water on an enemy submarine.

The Polaris missile has a warhead equal in destructive force to more than 500,000 tons of dynamite. That is small by comparison with the warheads of big Titan and Atlas missiles, but it is still equal to about one-sixth of all the explosive force laid down by the British and American forces in World War II.

The Polaris missile has a range of 1,200 miles. In the Pacific tests, the range may be greatly shortened, adding to the height the missile will reach when its warhead explodes.

It was believed that the Polaris and underwater shots may be the only two in the series designed to proof-test actual weapons.

The other tests in the atmospheric series are expected to be aimed at gathering knowledge on effects on nuclear explosions, especially in the area of missile defense.

There will be at least one explosion, under present plans, several hundred miles high. Scientists want to know the heat, ionization, electro-magnetic and other effects of such explosions. Scientists want to study in particular the effects that ionized particles would have on defense radars.

They want to know whether a nuclear burst in space or high in the atmosphere could serve as a "penetration aid," blinding warning radar and paving the way for missile attack.

The projected tests will be the first in the atmosphere by the United States in more than three years.

OAS Attacks Go On
Under New Leader

ALGIERS (UPI) — The Secret Army Organization (OAS) stayed indoors. But by late evening, terrorist violence across Algeria had killed 16 persons and wounded 17, bringing the 1962 toll to 3,858 dead and 8,169 wounded. Sunday's terrorism followed Saturday night's pirate radio announcement that ex-Gen. Paul Gardy, 60, had assumed leadership of the OAS to try to maintain a French-ruled Algeria. Salan headed the OAS since the general's revolt but was arrested Friday in Algiers and flown to Paris for trial and a probable death sentence.

Four Moslems were killed and four wounded in the bakery attack. No casualties were reported in the newspaper attack although Jean Pietri, 77, a watchman, died of a heart attack just before the explosion when the OAS threatened him and locked him in his apartment.

Two bombs exploded in the newspaper around 6:30 p.m. one at the entrance to the newspaper's underground printing plant and the other downstairs among the presses. The explosions touched off a fire that was raging an hour afterwards.

The terror attacks came during a day of scattered violence to make good on the OAS boast it can still strike "where we want, when we want, whom we want." The attacks marked the first anniversary of the abortive "generals' revolt" led by Salan and three other renegade generals.

It was the second bombing of a newspaper in Algiers. The Echo's printing press had been unused since just after the revolt in April 1961 when French authorities suspended publication. A bomb hit the Journal D'Alger April 17, wrecking the building's interior. It has not printed since.

A cold rain swept the city Sunday.

Stepson Held In Beating
Death Of Russian Count

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Vladimir Podgoursky, 23, was held for investigation of murder Sunday in the beating death of his stepfather, Count Ivan Podgoursky, 61, art dealer and reputed to be an exiled Russian nobleman.

Police said members of the family called them to the plush home in a fashionable area about an hour and a half after the slaying Saturday night.

They said they found the body of the count near the front door with a knife in his hand. Blood was on the walls of several rooms and many pieces of furniture were overturned.

Vladimir Podgoursky, a freshman at Trinity University, gave police and reporters this account: Young Podgoursky came home and found the count abusing his mother.

The count grabbed a butcher knife and chased the stepson through several rooms shouting: "I'll kill you."

The mother collapsed. Young Podgoursky, who weighs 165 pounds, grappled with the 220-pound count, and in the course of the struggle picked up a book-end from a table and began beating the count on the head.

"He was like a madman, screaming at the mouth," young Podgoursky said. "I hit him on the head and kept hitting him because he wouldn't stop coming at me with the knife."

"It was strictly self-defense and self-preservation."

Count Podgoursky had made his headquarters in San Antonio since 1952 and traveled extensively as a dealer in paintings by famous artists.

Laos Mission

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The royal government's leaders will set out Wednesday to visit U.S. allies in Asia and explain their bitter opposition to Washington's pressure for a coalition regime.

Premier Prince Boun Oum and his strongman deputy, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, hope to enlist support in such nations as Thailand and South Viet Nam for their stand against any regime headed by neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma.

"Our great friends are situated far away and do not understand us," said Acting Foreign Minister Sisouk Na Champassak. "Therefore we are going to visit our small friends and neighbors, not to seek money, but to look for active and effective comprehension."

The United States has held up its $3 million-a-month financial aid to put pressure on the royal government to join a coalition under Souvanna Phouma in which the pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas will be represented.

The government has stubbornly refused, contending Souvanna is dominated by the pro-Communist faction of his half brother, Prince Souphanouvong. Under such an arrangement the government said it fears the country will be eventually thrown into the Communists' lap.

The United States disagreed and firmly backed Souvanna as the most suitable to lead this divided country, torn by civil war, back to normalcy.

Sisouk said the 10-man delegation will visit Thailand April 25-28, South Viet Nam May 5-7, and Malaysia May 7-10.

Sisouk said South Korea and Formosa agreed to receive the delegation but no dates have yet been fixed. He added the government intends to approach the Philippines to arrange for a visit.

Woman-Beating Sadist
Terrorizes Ark. Town

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A sadist who beats women in their sleep has struck fear into the people of this mountain town, home of the University of Arkansas.

Five women have been attacked and savagely beaten since Christmas. Police have doubled their patrols and say they are doing their best to catch the attacker before he commits murder.

The latest beating — last Thursday — was one of the most brutal. A 74-year-old woman was attacked by a man who leaped out of the shadows as she walked to work at the University of Arkansas Student Union at 5 a.m.

He knocked her to the ground and beat her with his fist, breaking her cheekbone. She was hospitalized.

Police Chief Hollis Spencer said he has evidence that indicates the man is connected with the univer-

Burgess Scoffs
At British Alert
He Plans Return

MOSCOW (AP) — Guy Burgess laughed Sunday at Scotland Yard reports that he and another runaway British diplomat, Donald Maclean, were planning to return to England.

Chain-smoking Russian cigarettes, he told reporters at the Ukraine hotel: "What a splendid uproar about nothing. Both Maclean and I are staying in the Soviet Union. This is our home. I do not often see Maclean but I know that he and I are both staying here."

Scotland Yard has said there was reason to believe the two Foreign Office officials who defected to the Soviet Union in 1951 planned to return home and get out arrest warrants for them last week.

Burgess, looking tanned and fit, returned Sunday from a holiday at Yalta on the Black Sea.

"I heard these reports on the radio and was worried about their effect on my mother. So I came back to Moscow," he said.

Asked why he thought Scotland Yard had requested the warrants, Burgess said: "I am delighted to hear the British government and the attorney-general, Manningham Buller, are frightened at my returning."

Rocket Poised
For Moon Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States Sunday went ahead with plans to shoot a television-carrying probe at the moon Monday, despite technical problems in the 10-story launching rocket.

A silvery Atlas-Agena-B rocket was poised on its firing pad at the attempt to send Ranger-4 on the 60-hour journey.

The 730-pound probe will attempt to end a series of frustrating U.S. moonshot failures by taking close-up pictures of the moon and by landing a rugged ball of instruments on the lunar surface itself.

Aerial Tests
May Resume
WednesdayTryout Of Nuclear
Antisub Weapon
Also Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President government plans call for a submarine-launched Polaris missile with a live nuclear warhead to be tested in the U.S. atomic series in the Pacific, it was learned Sunday night.

It was also learned from well-informed sources that a new type antisubmarine weapon with an atomic warhead will be given a live test in an under-ocean shot if current plans are carried out.

The nuclear tests are scheduled to start in a few days unless there is some last minute Soviet agreement to an inspected ban on nuclear testing. Tentative date for test renewal is April 25—Wednesday.

The Polaris warhead and the antisubmarine weapon would be the first missile-carried nuclear weapon tested by the United States.

The Navy has two new antisubmarine weapons — ASROC and SUBROC — and it was not established which would be fired.

ASROC, for antisubmarine rocket, is carried aboard destroyers. SUBROC, submarine rocket, is to be carried by submarines for launching against other submarines.

SUBROC is designed to be launched from beneath the surface to streak through the water on an enemy submarine.

The Polaris missile has a warhead equal in destructive force to more than 500,000 tons of dynamite. That is small by comparison with the warheads of big Titan and Atlas missiles, but it is still equal to about one-sixth of all the explosive force laid down by the British and American air forces in World War II.

The Polaris missile has a range of 1,200 miles. In the Pacific tests, the range may be greatly shortened, adding to the height the missile will reach when its warhead explodes.

It was believed that the Polaris and underwater shots may be the only two in the series designed to proof-test actual weapons.

Aim Is Knowledge

The other tests in the atmospheric shots are expected to be aimed at gathering knowledge on effects on nuclear explosions, especially in the area of missile defense.

There will be at least one explosion, under present plans, several hundred miles high. Scientists want to know the heat, ionization, electro-magnetic and other effects of such explosions. Scientists want to study in particular the effects that ionized particles would have on defense radars.

They want to know whether a nuclear burst in space or high in the atmosphere could serve as a "penetration aid," blinding warning radar and paving the way for missile attack.

The projected tests will be the first in the atmosphere by the United States in more than three years.

Three Negroes Try
To Integrate Church

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — Three Negro students who attempted to attend Easter services at an all-white church here Sunday were hauled from their pews by police after they refused the white minister's plea to leave.

Police arrested the three — all students at Talladeega College — for trespassing after a warning.

The three arrested were among 18 persons from the predominantly Negro college who split up into small groups Sunday and attempted to "kneel-in" at six churches in this racially troubled town.

"Spare Jouhaud" Cry Rising In France

PARIS (AP)—From the solitude of death row in Sante Prison, Edmond Jouhaud is torturing the French national conscience. A big sector of French public opinion has somersaulted on Jouhaud's case since he was captured in Oran March 25. At that time he was treated with contempt and scorn for his activities in the terrorist Secret Army Organization which is fighting Algerian independence.

Since Jouhaud has been sentenced to death, however, many Frenchmen have softened their attitudes. Letters urging commutation of the sentence have been flowing to official offices and newspapers.

Jouhaud's last chance for life lies with President Charles de Gaulle. The Superior Council of Magistrates, which passes on all capital cases and may recommend mercy, meets Tuesday with De Gaulle as chairman. After hearing the advice of this council, De Gaulle must then make up his mind. The decision rests solely with him.

He can let the sentence be carried out or he can commute it to imprisonment. There is also the possibility that De Gaulle might decide nothing for the time being, which would have the effect of staying execution of the sentence.

The problem may be complicated by the capture Friday of ex-Gen. Raoul Salan. Attorneys for Salan may ask to have Jouhaud testify before the examining magistrate preparing the Salan trial or even during the trial itself, which is expected to start about May 15.

Communists and Socialists, who have long pleaded for stern, all-out action against the secret army, still are insisting on Jouhaud's execution. The right-wing elements who have battled against Algerian independence are for clemency. In between these firm political stands are thousands of Frenchmen who would like to see the penalty eased on humanitarian grounds.

Strong Nation Could Bankrupt U.N., Thant Says

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant said Sunday a powerful nation could bankrupt the United Nations by withholding its dues out of dislike for a U.N. peace-keeping operation.

Thant did not mention the Soviet Union's refusal to pay its one-sixth share of the cost of the peacekeeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East. Other nations, such as France, have also refused to pay.

He said that cost was $11.8 million a month and, up to the end of 1961, member countries had paid only 65 and 73 per cent respectively of what they owed toward those two operations.

Thant discussed the possibility of bankruptcy in his first interview since he took office last Nov. 3. It was filmed with Alistair Cooke and televised on the U.N.-produced program "International Zone."

"The United Nations depends on three Ms for the peacekeeping operations," he said: "money, men and materials. If we do not get these three Ms, I think the future of the United Nations is, if I may say so, quite gloomy."

Thant said the United Nations was solvent on its normal activities and was running behind only on the Congo and Middle East forces. The pending $200-million U.N. bond issue is the most sensible means of financing legitimate U.N. functions, he added.

AF Probes Jet Crash

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—An engine "flame out" or failure at only 1,500 feet caused an Air Force jet fighter plane to crash into a residential area north of Seattle Saturday, killing two persons.

It fell just seconds after it had taken part in an aerial salute to the Seattle World's Fair.

Two elderly persons perished in their home, one of two houses demolished as the F-102 Delta Dagger interceptor struck like a lightning bolt and exploded. Four other homes were damaged badly.

The Air Force rushed two teams into the area to investigate the crash Sunday.

Even as the investigations got under way, an officer told of the desperate efforts of the pilot, Capt. Joseph W. Wildt of Cincinnati, to restart the plane's 10,000-pound-thrust engine before ejecting himself and parachuting to safety in Lake Washington.

Rescued Man Quizzed In Annapolis Blaze

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Annapolis police questioned a 41-year-old man Sunday in connection with a four-alarm fire that damaged four adjoining firms near the center of the Maryland capital.

The man, trapped by flames in one of the upstairs offices Saturday night, was rescued uninjured by firemen.

E. Gwynn Bowen Jr., Annapolis fire inspector, said four firemen were injured fighting the blaze but only one required hospitalization. William E. Oaksmith, deputy chief of the city's fire department, suffered foot and leg injuries.

McGuffey Suit Is Dismissed

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP)—Circuit Judge M. Eugene Baker has dismissed a suit seeking removal of the four members of the Lakewood School Board who introduced the 1879 McGuffey reader into the elementary school curriculum.

Dennis Beula, director of the Lakewood School Board in the nearby community of Twin Lakes, said Sunday he had received Judge Baker's mailed decision, announcing that all charges against the four had been dismissed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lovely of Twin Lakes, parents of children in the Lakewood school, had filed a taxpayer's petition in Baker's court late last year, seeking removal of the four men for alleged inefficiency and neglect of duty in ordering use of the McGuffey's. A fifth board member, William Thorsen, was not named in the action.

The Lovelys claimed the McGuffey reader contained sectarian religious passages. The book was strong on Protestant morality.

Judge Baker was quoted as saying that a lengthy hearing on the charges convinced him that there is no proper justification under the law for removal of the four members.

Minister Leaves Jail To Conduct Services

LA PLATA, Md. (AP)—A 65-year-old California minister conducted Easter services at the Metropolitan Methodist Church in Pomonkey, Md., Sunday - then promptly returned to Charles County jail.

He is the Rev. Ashton Jones, white, of South San Gabriel, Calif., who was arrested in Saturday night's freedom ride along U.S. 301 near here along with Margaret Martin, 24, a Negro, of New York.

The pair, who attempted to sit-in at the White Ladies restaurant in White Plains, were taken into custody by sheriff's deputies and charged with trespass.

They refused to post $100 bond and elected to remain in jail until their trial next Thursday.

Five others were arrested as between 250 and 300 persons conducted sit-in and picketing demonstrations along the highway. Another person was arrested and charged with assaulting one of the demonstrators.

All were released on $100 bond pending trial in Charles County Trial Magistrate Court Thursday.

Willis Carrier was only 26 years old, one year out of engineering school, when his invention of air conditioning in 1902 solved a problem men had wrestled with for 2,000 years.

(C) 1962 By The Chicago Tribune

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠62 ♥4 ♣AK105 ♣QJ1093

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♥ Pass 2♣ Pass

2♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three hearts. The alternate bid of three diamonds is not recommended, for it will induce partner to contract for three no trump with but a single spade stopper on some hands which will play better at four hearts. Queen and one constitutes adequate trump support for a rebid suit.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠J6 ♥3 ♣AKJ107 ♣AKQ85

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1♦ 1♥ Pass Pass

What do you bid now?

A—This is a choice between a reopening double and a jump in the forcing call. Our choice favors the latter call. For the hand to play satisfactorily in spades, partner would have to be able to bid the suit of his own volition.

Q. 3—E a s-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠KQJ93 ♥742 ♣1063 ♣A7

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♦ 2♣ 2♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Double. For your free bid of two spades you had to dig deep into your resources, and a pass by you at this point would be somewhat too aggressive. If your ace had been found in one of the other suits a forcing pass might be acceptable but, under the circumstances, the sure profit should be taken.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠Q62 ♥96 ♣AKJ109762

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

What do you bid now?

A—Three clubs. This is a slight underbid for a passed hand, but no other desirable call is available. No effort should be extended to push the bidding beyond the three no trump level since that may easily prove to be the limit of the hand if partner has a light opening with scattered values.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠763 ♥10 ♣AK62 ♣K9732

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1♥ Pass 2♥ Double

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three hearts. This is a mighty potent hand opposite a partner who was able to make a take-out double at the level of two. Game is certain but, in order to probe for the best spot, a cue bid is in order. This merely throws partner's question back, asking him to name his best suit. If he bids three spades, you can now bid four clubs and await further developments. If his response is in a minor, you will, of course, raise.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠A1072 ♥A ♣Q1074 ♣Q972

The bidding has proceeded:

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 26-year-old convict from Cleveland, Ohio, who escaped from a federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Ga., was arrested in Baltimore Saturday and charged in connection with an auto theft in Johnson City, Tenn. He was identified as Earl Ray Hamilton, who was serving a six-year term at the Atlanta prison for interstate transportation of a stolen automobile and violation of conditional release.

BALTIMORE (AP)—About 300 persons gathered at the War Memorial Plaza Saturday to rally for controlled disarmament after a 10-mile walk from Pikesville. The marchers — demonstrating against nuclear testing — followed a path outlining the radius of total destruction if a 10-megaton bomb were dropped at North Avenue and Charles Street.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠62 ♥Q4 ♣AK105 ♣QJ1093

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass

2♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. The alternate bid of three diamonds is not recommended, for it will induce partner to contract for three no trump with but a single spade stopper on some hands which will play better at four hearts. Queen and one constitute adequate trump support for a rebid suit.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠J6 ♥3 ♣AKJ107 ♣AKQ85

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1♦ 1♥ Pass Pass

1♦ 1♥ Pass Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—This is a choice between a reopening double and a jump in clubs. Our choice favors the latter call. For the hand to play satisfactorily in spades, partner would have to be able to bid the suit of his own volition.

Q. 3—E a s t-West vulnerable,

♠KQJ93 ♥742 ♦1063 ♣A7

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♦ 2♣ 2♣ Pass

4♣ 5♣ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. For your free bid of two spades you had to dig deep into your resources, and a pass by you at this point would be somewhat too aggressive. If your ace had been found in one of the other suits a forcing pass might be acceptable but, under the circumstances, the sure profit should be taken.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠Q62 ♥96 ♦A ♣KJ109762

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1♣ 1♣

What do you bid now?

A.—Three clubs. This is a slight underbid for a passed hand, but no other desirable call is available. No effort should be extended to push the bidding beyond the three no trump level since that may easily prove to be the limit of the hand if partner has a light opening with scattered values.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠763 ♥10 ♦AK62 ♣K9732

The bidding has proceeded:

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. This is a mighty potent hand opposite a partner who was able to make a take-out double at the level of two. Game is certain but, in order to probe for the best spot, a cue bid is in order. This merely throws partner's question back, asking him to name his best suit. If he bids three spades, you can now bid four clubs and await further developments. If his response is in a minor, you will, of course, raise.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This next one has started, so I miss part of both. I've tried preparing in advance, but it doesn't work. He never wants what's already fixed. I've put cheese and crackers at his elbow as well as fresh fruit but he rarely touches it. He always has a yen for something "original."

My big lummo says, "How about a nice bacon and tomato sandwich with just a little mayonnaise on it — and toasted please?" or — "Gee could I ever go for some of that terrific cheese dip—the kind with the grated onion and anchovies in it."

By the time I get the snack ready the program is over and the divorced last year. My mother didn't want the divorce but my father fell in love with another woman and wanted his freedom so he could marry her. My mother was heartbroken but she said, "My father takes me to dinner every other Friday . . ."

My father takes me to dinner every other Friday . . . She tries to be nice but I am uncomfortable in her presence. It's a terrible strain on me to be in her company. My stomach gets tied up in knots and I can't eat. I would love to spend a few hours alone with my father, just the two of us, but it seems as if I will never get this privilege again as long as I live. Can you suggest something? — HURTING HEART

DEAR HEART: Call your father at his place of business and tell him exactly how you feel. It should not be difficult for him to understand.

It would be a mistake to continue these three-cornered Friday dinners if they make you physically ill. Surely your dad can arrange to spend these few hours every other week with you. — ALONE

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 19 years old and have a four-month-old son. I am not married. The baby's father is in the Air Force and he will be back in the U. S. in a few months.

I live with my parents who have been very good to me. My father paid my doctor and hospital bills and I am now working to pay him back.

The problem is my parents are pressuring me to write to Bill and insist that we be married when he comes home. I have been writing to Bill regularly and sending him pictures of the baby. He writes back and says the baby is cute.

D. C. Office Building
WASHINGTON (AP)—The District of Columbia has asked Congress to appropriate $75,000 to plan construction of another building to house municipal offices. It would be built near the present municipal center at Indiana Avenue and Third Street, N.W.

LONDON (AP)—The Russians are seeing to it that the Volga River will have a plentiful supply of sturgeon, one source for caviar. A big reservoir for cultivation of sturgeon has been built at Volgograd—formerly Stalingrad. Nearly 4 million fish will be released into the Volga from the reservoir each year.

He also says he is having a wonderful time and the U. S. will seem dull after Tokyo.

Please tell me what to do, Ann. I don't want to push Bill into a marriage he doesn't want. I am the reserved type who hates to impose on people? What do you say? — CELIA

DEAR CELIA: For a young lady who considers herself "reserved" it's obvious that you cancel your reservations occasionally. You are shy about the wrong things, Buttercup. The baby's father should have paid the doctor and hospital bills. And he ought to be sending support checks regularly for the child.

I agree it is unwise to pressure a man into a marriage he doesn't want, but Bill has a legal obligation to support his son and you should insist that he does.

Create The High Cheek Bone Look
If your cheek bones have any definition at all, you can increase their importance in a number of ways. Two make-up tricks alone will do wonders.

Get yourself some rouge that melts into your skin and harmonizes with your coloring so well that it looks as though it comes from within you—not from inside a bottle. Also supply yourself with a foundation that is several shades darker than your regular one but with the same underlying tones.

Cleanse your skin thoroughly, apply a sparing layer of your regular foundation as usual. With the darker foundation, draw a triangle on each lower cheek. These should start from a point just below your cheek bones and widen out to a three inch base just above your jaw bones. Blend until there is no line of demarcation.

Now take a good look. If you have done an expert job, your cheek bones should already appear more clearly defined. The shading causes your cheeks to recede and by contrast gives increased prominence to your cheek bones.

Next, let's further this trick of the eye. Apply your rouge right on your cheek bones. Red, as you know, makes everything it touches appear larger and that's what you want your cheek bones to look. Place the rouge in a triangle of three dots. The top dot in a line with the eye socket at the top edge of the cheek bone and the other two dots one inch below, and one inch apart from each other. Blend outward and upward across the temple until the rouge disappears into the hair line. Powder your entire face and neck and remove the residue.

But wait, there's more! Arrange your hair now and forever so that it is slick at the temples. If the rest of your face will permit so much angularity, also wear straight-brimmed hats and square necklines to emphasize your new-won cheekbone width. But be sure to wear necklaces and earrings that are round in design. Why? To accent the strength of your cheek-bone structure.

Use all these suggestions at the same moment, and you'll need no reason why!

Create The High Cheek Bone Look

If your cheek bones have any definition at all, you can increase their importance in a number of ways. Two make-up tricks alone will do wonders.

Get yourself some rouge that melts into your skin and harmonizes with your coloring so well that it looks as though it comes from within you—not from inside a bottle. Also supply yourself with a foundation that is several shades darker than your regular one but with the same underlying tones.

Cleanse your skin thoroughly. Apply a sparing layer of your regular foundation as usual. With the darker foundation, draw a triangle on each lower cheek. These should start from a point just below your cheek bones and widen out to a three inch base just above your jaw bones. Blend until there is no line of demarcation.

Now take a good look. If you have done an expert job, your cheek bones should already appear more clearly defined. The shading causes your cheeks to recede and by contrast gives increased prominence to your cheek bones.

Next, let's further this trick of the eye. Apply your rouge right on your cheek bones. Red, as you know, makes everything it touches appear larger and that's what you want your cheek bones to look. Place the rouge in a triangle of three dots: The top dot in a line with the eye socket at the top edge of the cheek bone and the other two dots one inch below, and one inch apart from each other. Blend outward and upward across the temple until the rouge disappears into the hair line. Powder your entire face and neck and remove the residue.

No Choice But To Test

Atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons will soon be resumed by the United States. The decision to resume was one Washington tried to avoid, but in the final analysis it had no real choice but to resume.

For 3½ years the United States negotiated and the Soviet Union stalled over a nuclear test ban treaty. There had been a voluntary moratorium on testing.

That moratorium came to an end with a bang last fall, and it became quite apparent to the world that the Russians had used it to prepare in secret for another series of tests. It was a big series—some 50 shots altogether.

Still, the United States did not immediately resume testing. In fact, testing facilities had been allowed to deteriorate. Washington went another mile with the Russians, agreeing to merge the test ban discussions with discussions of general disarmament, as they had been demanding.

But even before that, the Russians had categorically rejected the principle of inspection, over which they had been stalling long and hard—and called it "espionage." There is evidence that the Russians are interested in gaining a propaganda victory by placing the onus of resuming tests on the U. S., and in continuing the arms buildup.

President Kennedy made the decision to resume testing only after the results of the Russians' fall series became apparent. They made gains. Not enough to overcome the U. S. lead, but enough to put them in a position to do so. Washington policy still is based on maintaining enough lead in atom weaponry to discourage a potential aggressor. The decision was therefore inevitable.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Silver

Talking about inflation, it has been historical experience that when there is no metal support for currency, inflation occurs and the currency loses in value, that is, in purchasing power. I know of no data which upsets this basic principle and experience about money. Perhaps the United States Treasury has come into possession of such data.

On November 27, 1961, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon wrote a letter to the President in which he explained the present position of silver in the world and in the United States. He then made the following proposal to the President:

"... I propose that we now begin an actual though gradual, withdrawal of silver bullion from the currency reserves, permitting substitution of federal reserve notes for the silver certificates withdrawn, and using the bullion thereby released to meet our continually heavy coinage requirements..."

It would seem to me that this is another step in the withdrawing of metal support for the dollar. On November 28, 1961, President Kennedy wrote Secretary of the Treasury Dillon as follows:

"On the basis of your recommendations and the studies conducted by the Treasury and other departments, I have reached the decision that silver metal should gradually be withdrawn from our monetary reserves."

"Simultaneously with the publication of this letter, you are directed to suspend further sales of 'free' silver, and to suspend use of 'free' silver held by the Treasury for coinage. In this way, the remaining stock and any subsequently acquired can be used, at your discretion, to contribute to the maintenance of an orderly market in silver and for such other special purposes as you may determine. In order to meet coinage needs, the amount of silver required for this purpose should be obtained by retirement from circulation of a sufficient number of five-dollar and ten-dollar silver certificates."

"Pursuant to this general determination, I intend to recommend to Congress, when it reconvenes, that it repeal the acts relating to silver of 19 June, 1934, 6 July, 1939, and 31 July, 1946. The existing tax on transfers of interest in silver bullion has been necessary only to provide reinforcement for this legislation. I will therefore simultaneously propose that the relevant portion of the Internal Revenue Code also be repealed."

"These actions will permit the establishment of a broad market for trading in silver on a current and forward basis comparable to the markets in which other commodities are traded. Our new policy will in effect provide for the eventual demonetization of silver except for its use in subsidiary coinage."

"Although the potential supply of silver now embodied in the outstanding five-dollar and ten-dollar certificates will be sufficient to cover coinage requirements for a number of years, I believe this is an appropriate time to provide for the gradual release of the silver now required as backing for one-dollar and two-dollar silver certificates. I shall therefore also recommend that legislation be enacted to accomplish this purpose and authorize the Federal Reserve Banks to include these denominations in the range of notes they are permitted to issue."

Sincerely,
John F. Kennedy

The publication of this letter, indicating "the eventual demonetization of silver except for its use in subsidiary coinage," did not startle Europe where the American inflation is being watched both as a political and an economic phenomenon. The end of the year 1961 brought to a virtual end bi-metalism in the United States and as gold cannot, under the law, be exchanged for currency by an American but may be by a European or an Asiatic, the American dollar has only such metal support as the Treasury owns gold.

During the Hoover and Roosevelt Administrations, Senators Borah and Pittman fought violently for bi-metalism in the United States. Their principal interest was not sound currency but support for the American silver mining industry. It was the increase in the price of silver in the United States which produced a frightful inflation in China and was one major cause for the success of the Chinese Communists against Chiang Kai-shek. Both China and Hong Kong went on a gold basis and today there is practically no silver standard country on Earth. As recently as the end of 1960 and the beginning of 1961, the London market reported a large exodus of silver from China.

Too Many Can Die--Even In Communist China

HONG KONG

There are rather clear indications that the Chinese Communist leadership is considering a thoroughgoing purge of the party's ranks, on the model of Josef Stalin's purges of the late 1930's.

The chief Canton newspaper publishes a mysterious letter suggesting that it is misguided to pay too much attention to the opinions and commands of Canton's First Party Secretary, who was both sacrosanct and omnipotent until just the other day. The Peking People's Daily publishes a less specific but far more ominous editorial, mentioning party members who may have done great things in the past, but have now committed grievous errors and therefore stand in need of stern correction. Six of the 18 vice-premiers of China are mysteriously missing from the National People's Congress.

Such is the nature of the indicators. As always in such cases, the advance signs may be misleading. Or the purge, if there is one, may stop at big frogs in relatively small puddles, like the Canton party secretary. Or instead of shooting the purges in the back of the neck — the fate of most of Stalin's victims — Mao may content himself with sending the faintest, the doubters, and the outright opponents to "labor reform" — a slower sentence of death in China nowadays, but one that looks better in the newspapers.

At any rate, the indicators of a coming purge of some sort make a pattern with another process that has been noticeable in China for at least a year. Extraordinary efforts are being made to insure the loyalty and dependability of the army, by all sorts of measures to enhance the authority and prestige of the party's political commissars within the officer corps. This is all the more remarkable, because the commissars' authority was already enormous. It should hardly be needed, since the army has been effectively commanded for nearly three years by the former secret police chief, Gen. Lo Jui-ching.

Such unusual concern about the army must mean that the Peking leadership is now getting ready to go through a very rough patch indeed, when the army's loyalty may be severely tested. The signs of an oncoming purge, if they are not misleading, point in just the same direction.

Reports from the mainland indicate (as one would expect) that many Communist party cadres have been disheartened and demoralized by the grim years since Mao's "great leap forward" began. To get through an even rougher patch, the party almost certainly needs to be drastically hardened and toughened. Naked terror is a pre-tested hardening and toughening device, as Mao Tse-tung has undoubtedly noticed in the course of his Stalinist studies.

By Joseph Alsop

If all this sounds a bit lurid, it must be remembered that the present situation in China is more than a bit lurid. The Chinese masses were first condemned to acute undernourishment in order to pay for forced industrialization. Despite a good start on the industrial front, acute industrial breakdown then followed. And although the industrial breakdown was tolerated and the new slogan, "All Aid to Agriculture," was proclaimed, the last harvest brought no relief.

As already contended in this space, the facts therefore suggest

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

STEEL PACT WINNER—Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg and President Kennedy are taking bows for their work in successfully heading off a steel strike this summer. However, there is word in Washington that the real winner in the episode was David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers.

The "settlement" agreed upon is computed to mean about 10 cents more an hour in "fringe" benefits for the steel workers, with no increase in pay at least until June 30, 1963. However, some sharp pencil boys in the industry are letting it be known that when the figures are all in, the increase will be nearer eight than 10 cents.

Besides, they claim that McDonald was on a terrible spot. His union was dead set against a steel strike, and if he provoked one by making demands the steel companies wouldn't meet, he would have been in trouble with his own union.

However, now he can claim that he settled at the behest of the President and the secretary of Labor, and let them bear the political onus for any recriminations that may develop of events prove that the settlement was for less than the workers were led to believe.

The end of this story is that Goldberg, a former labor organization executive himself, was well aware of all these cross-currents at the time he began to intervene. He knew the cards were stacked in his favor for a settlement, and has been able to "look good" to the public on something that would have come about anyway, whether he intervened or not.

Persistent Bronchitis Is Cause For Concern

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Every young man and woman with chronic bronchitis should go to a hospital and look at the more advanced cases of the disease. What they see should help them give up smoking and eliminate all other sources of irritation in the nose, throat, mouth, sinuses, and bronchi. Many persons would go so far as to turn over a new leaf and start a health building routine.

Bronchitis is inflammation of the lining of the bronchial tubes. All of us have experienced the acute variety as part of an ordinary cold. This is responsible for the coughing that takes place when infection settles in the chest. The acute attack usually subsides in a week or two but chronic bronchitis suffer for months or years.

Initially, the victim of chronic bronchitis is bothered after an attack of flu or other respiratory disorder. The infection subsides but the individual continues to hack and spit for several weeks, which is blamed on smoking. But as time goes by, coughs become more frequent and coughing spells last longer until they become an everyday affair.

The barking is worse in the morning and evening and is aggravated by damp or cold weather. Larger and larger amounts of heavy mucus are expelled as the bronchi become more and more irritated. So long as the individual can blame smoking, he is unconcerned about this condition. Little does he realize that the membranes are infected and the years of irritation are causing irreparable damage.

The membranes do not function properly when the infection becomes deep seated. The sufferer coughs frequently because mucus is secreted constantly. In time, the absorption of oxygen is affected and shortness of breath occurs.

Complete disability takes place when the individual must get up for air even when sitting or lying flat in bed.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on bronchitis if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Post Office Undercuts Agriculture In Dealing With Two Congressmen

By Drew Pearson

big real estate deals in near-by Maryland.

Rush Announcement

On April 12, just as agricultural officials were begging Grant to vote for the farm bill, another branch of the Kennedy administration — the Post Office Department — handed his chief rival, Frank Boykin, a choice of a new Post Office in Mobile.

The Post Office rushed out an announcement — quite unnecessarily — assuring Boykin that a site had been selected and a general post office would be built soon. The announcement came from Joe Doherty, in charge of Post Office facilities.

On April 13, Boykin's rival, Congressman Grant, shied away from a vote for Kennedy in the Agriculture Committee.

It's now admitted at the Post Office Department that Boykin has known the planned site of the post office for one year.

"Isn't this property owned by Boykin?" the Post Office was asked.

"We don't know," was the reply, "but that won't make any difference since the land will be taken by condemnation."

"Don't you think Boykin has enough influence with Mobile condemnation experts or juries to get a nice price for this land for himself or friends?"

On this point the Post Office was noncommittal.

Note — the debonair Congressman from Mobile has been so worried over losing his election race that he spent around $150,000 for a personal mailing to 800,000 statewide voters, also paid the editor of the Choctaw Advocate to write a favorable editorial about him. Thanks to the Post Office, Frank now won't have to worry; secretary of agriculture Freeman will.

No U.S. Flag For U.S. Steel

On the Monday after U. S. Steel's Roger Blough threw in the price sponge to John F. Kennedy, Juan Perez Alfonso, Venezuelan Minister of Mines, arrived for lunch.

The Venezuelan Cabinet member had been invited by the U. S. Steel chairman some time in advance, and since U. S. Steel owns one of the biggest iron ore mountains in the world next to the Orinoco River, it would have been undiplomatic to cancel the date—despite the hectic turmoil over steel prices.

Perez Alfonso is a man who has lived for many years in exile. He is a Democrat who is not afraid to tangle with big business. He is also a man not without humor.

"I saw the Shah of Iran riding up the street as I came in," he greeted the U. S. Steel chairman, "and I saw him looking up at your building as if he was wondering why there was no flag on it."

"Is that so?" replied Blough. "There were flags everywhere, but here was the tall U. S. Steel building with no Iranian flag and no American flag." The Venezuelan minister continued his gentle ribbing.

U. S. Steel officials made no further comment. They did not elucidate as to whether the omission was accidental or whether it was prompted by the feeling that at that particular moment they would like to secede from the Union.

Army Censorship
Maj. Arch Roberts, former aide to Gen. Edwin Walker, squawked to high heaven because the Army censored his proposed speech before the DAR. However, the Army, though not revealing the inside facts, had good reason to be leery of Roberts.

This column has previously revealed how the major's name came up in a secret meeting of New York Chapter 26 of the John Birch Society where Gene Groves, a newsman who penetrated the meeting, reported that a Mrs. Byron announced:

"Our letter-writing campaign is going magnificently. And Major Roberts is doing a wonderful job. His whole career would be in danger if the Army knew he was working with us. But be sure to use your names, the names of other groups to which you may belong, operate through other organizations. We must not associate the campaign with the John Birch Society."

When Jack Anderson, my assistant, telephoned Major Roberts in Fort Lee, Va., to ask "Are you a member of the John Birch Society?" Roberts replied: "I don't care to comment."

He offered, however, to send Anderson some of the "proble" material which he had provided General Walker.

Note — Major Roberts has been using franked envelopes of Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina to circulate material attacking the Overseas Weekly, the GI journal which first exposed Walker's activities.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The connection between happiness and kitchen garbage seems to be remote. But it is there. The Murrees are aware of it. They don't discuss it, not even between themselves. It's a secret symbol — unsung and unmentioned — like a new girl.

Paddy Murfee has always been a good man, but his boiling point is low. He has his own radio shop in Flatbush for as long back as I can remember. He was always short and stout and he had a rocking horse gait and a wiseguy's manner of speaking out of one corner of his mouth. Then he grew up through his own hair and he began to look like on Easter egg.

He married Tessie Mayes before the war. No one ever entered Tessie in a contest. Food was her great love. She would eat anything that wouldn't eat her first. On her first date with Paddy, he took her to Lundy's Restaurant and when she finished the nesselrode pie, she smacked her lips and said to the waiter: "Start with the steamed clams again."

This marriage was made in Heaven. Paddy loved food, too, and he adored Tessie. He didn't have his own shop in those days, but it didn't take long for him to get one. When television came into being, he expanded the one window store, and took a second one. If he hadn't had a bad temper, Paddy would have owned a string of shops by now.

But, every time a customer asked a simple question like: "The last time you fixed this condenser it cost $8; how come it's $13 this time?" Paddy would emit a roar of outrage and someone would have to run for a putty knife and scrape him off the ceiling.

Tessie said that every time Paddy picked up a new customer, he dropped one. In any case, they were reasonably happy. In time, they were blessed with two daughters: Muriel and Patricia. They bought a six-room house out on the island, and life was a dream.

The children were in their teens when Paddy began to take dancing lessons. The instructors told him he was great; a natural. The truth is that his feet have the tempo of a tired elephant. Paddy referred to believe the instructors. He gave up bowling and took up ballroom dancing.

He was whirling with Tessie three and four nights a week. Her feet were in no mood for abuse; they quit every morning when she got out of bed. She tried to tell Paddy, as gently as possible, that she was no dancer. When that didn't work, she told him that he was no dancer.

This led to middle-of-the-night battles. He called Tessie fat, and lazy, and a few other things not quite so subtle. This brought tears and tears brought absences from the house. Something which started out as a minor marital disagreement grew and grew until Paddy finally left home.

For a time he appeared to lose his mind. He frequented cheap dance halls at night, sent money to Tessie, and enclosed threatening notes. All of us who knew him were shocked when he went to another state and sued for divorce. He got it.

So far as I know, he engaged in no romance. His sole interest was to prove that he was a great dancer. He was proving it at ballrooms all over New York. This cost in arch supporters alone would have bought him another radio store.

The ironic point is that his business did not suffer. Dancing seemed to cancel his aggression. Paddy seemed more tolerant of opinions other than his own. He was — well, the word mellow is exaggerated.

A few nights ago, Kelly and I saw him in New York. He didn't see us, so we didn't bother to say hello. However, the waiter at our table knew Paddy and he pointed out that Murfee was dancing with Tessie. I took another look. If it was Tess, she was a lot thinner and somewhat older looking.

"They appeared to be happy. I asked the waiter if he knew the score. He said that Paddy had become serious with another woman because she admired him. One night, they had a little dispute and she told him her true thoughts about him and his erratic feet."

Paddy quit her, and started courting Tessie. It would have killed him to admit he had been wrong, so she didn't press the point. They were remarried quietly. The first night home, it was Patricia who remembered that, after dinner, Paddy always took the garbage out.

No one mentioned it. Paddy finished eating, stood and stretched, and went to the kitchen and hefted the garbage can. The three girls at the table looked at each other and burst into tears. "Isn't it good," Muriel said, "to have daddy home again?"

The connection between happiness and garbage seems remote. But it's there.

Atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons will soon be resumed by the United States. The decision to resume was one Washington tried to avoid, but in the final analysis it had no real choice but to resume.

For 3½ years the United States negotiated and the Soviet Union stalled over a nuclear test ban treaty. There had been a voluntary moratorium on testing.

That moratorium came to an end with a bang last fall, and it became quite apparent to the world that the Russians had used it to prepare in secret for another series of tests. It was a big series—some 50 shots altogether.

Still, the United States did not immediately resume testing. In fact, testing facilities had been allowed to deteriorate. Washington went another mile with the Russians, agreeing to merge the test ban discussions with discussions of general disarmament, as they had been demanding.

But even before that, the Russians had categorically rejected the principle of inspection, over which they had been stalling long and hard—and called it "espionage." There is evidence that the Russians are interested in gaining a propaganda victory by placing the onus of resuming tests on the U. S., and in continuing the arms buildup.

President Kennedy made the decision to resume testing only after the results of the Russians' fall series became apparent. They made gains. Not enough to overcome the U. S. lead, but enough to put them in a position to do so. Washington policy still is based on maintaining enough lead in atom weaponry to discourage a potential aggressor. The decision was therefore inevitable.

Silver

Talking about inflation, it has been historical experience that when there is no metal support for currency, inflation occurs and the currency loses in value, that is, in purchasing power. I know of no data which upsets this basic principle and experience about money. Perhaps the United States Treasury has come into possession of such data.

On November 27, 1961, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon wrote a letter to the President in which he explained the present position of silver in the world and in the United States. He then made the following proposal to the President:

"... I propose that we now begin an actual though gradual withdrawal of silver bullion from the currency reserves, permitting substitution of federal reserve notes for the silver certificates withdrawn, and using the bullion thereby released to meet our continually heavy coinage requirements."

It would seem to me that this is another step in the withdrawing of metal support for the dollar. On November 28, 1961, President Kennedy wrote Secretary of the Treasury Dillon as follows:

"On the basis of your recommendations and the studies conducted by the Treasury and other departments, I have reached the decision that silver metal should gradually be withdrawn from our monetary reserves."

"Simultaneously with the publication of this letter, you are directed to suspend further sales of 'free' silver, and to suspend use of 'free' silver held by the Treasury for coinage. In this way, the remaining stock and any subsequently acquired can be used, at your discretion, to contribute to the maintenance of an orderly market in silver and for such other special purposes as you may determine. In order to meet coinage needs, the amount of silver required for this purpose should be obtained by retirement from circulation of a sufficient number of five-dollar and ten-dollar silver certificates."

"Pursuant to this general determination, I intend to recommend to Congress, when it reconvenes, that it repeal the acts relating to silver of 19 June, 1934, 6 July, 1939, and 31 July, 1946. The existing tax on transfers of interest in silver bullion has been necessary only to provide reinforcement for this legislation. I will therefore simultaneously propose that the relevant portion of the Internal Revenue Code also be repealed."

"These actions will permit the establishment of a broad market for trading in silver on a current and forward basis comparable to the markets in which other commodities are traded. Our new policy will in effect provide for the eventual demonetization of silver except for its use in subsidiary coinage."

"Although the potential supply of silver now embodied in the outstanding five-dollar and ten-dollar certificates will be sufficient to cover coinage requirements for a number of years, I believe this is an appropriate time to provide for the gradual release of the silver now required as backing for one-dollar and two-dollar silver certificates. I shall therefore also recommend that legislation be enacted to accomplish this purpose and authorize the Federal Reserve Banks to include these denominations in the range of notes they are permitted to issue."

Sincerely,
John F. Kennedy

The publication of this letter, indicating "the eventual demonetization of silver except for its use in subsidiary coinage," did not startle Europe where the American inflation is being watched both as a political and an economic phenomenon. The end of the year 1961 brought to a virtual end bi-metalism in the United States and as gold cannot, under the law, be exchanged for currency by an American but may be by a European or an Asiatic, the American dollar has only such metal support as the Treasury owns gold.

During the Hoover and Roosevelt Administrations, Senators Borah and Pittman fought violently for bi-metalism in the United States. Their principal interest was not sound currency but support for the American silver mining industry. It was the increase in the price of silver in the United States which produced a frightful inflation in China and was one major cause for the success of the Chinese Communists against Chiang Kai-shek. Both China and Hong Kong went on a gold basis and today there is practically no silver standard country on earth. As recently as the end of 1960 and the beginning of 1961, the London market reported a large exodus of silver from China.

Too Many Can Die--Even In Communist China

HONG KONG

There are rather clear indications that the Chinese Communist leadership is considering a thoroughgoing purge of the party's ranks, on the model of Josef Stalin's purges of the late 1930's.

The chief Canton newspaper publishes a mysterious letter suggesting that it is misguided to pay too much attention to the opinions and commands of Canton's First Party Secretary, who was both sacrosanct and omnipotent until just the other day. The Peking People's Daily publishes a less specific but far more ominous editorial, mentioning party members who may have done great things in the past, but have now committed grievous errors and therefore stand in need of stern correction. Six of the 18 vice-premiers of China are mysteriously missing from the National People's Congress.

Such is the nature of the indicators. As always in such cases, the advance signs may be misleading. Or the purge, if there is one, may stop at big frogs in relatively small puddles, like the Canton party secretary. Or instead of shooting the purges in the back of the neck—the fate of most of Stalin's victims—Mao may content himself with sending the faintest, the doubters, and the outright opponents to "labor reform"—a slower sentence of death in China nowadays, but one that looks better in the newspapers.

At any rate, the indicators of a coming purge of some sort make a pattern with another process that has been noticeable in China for at least a year. Extraordinary efforts are being made to insure the loyalty and dependability of the army, by all sorts of measures to enhance the authority and prestige of the party's political commissars within the officer corps. This is all the more remarkable, because the commissars' authority was already enormous. It should hardly be needed, since the army has been effectively commanded for nearly three years by the former secret police chief, Gen. Lo Jui-ching. Such unusual concern about the army must mean that the Peking leadership is now getting ready to go through a very rough patch indeed, when the army's loyalty may be severely tested. The signs of an oncoming purge, if they are not misleading, point in just the same direction.

Reports from the mainland indicate (as one would expect) that many Communist party cadres have been disheartened and demoralized by the grim years since Mao's "great leap forward" began. To get through an even rougher patch, the party almost certainly needs to be drastically hardened and toughened. Naked terror is a pre-tested hardening and toughening device, as Mao Tse-tung has undoubtedly noticed in the course of his Stalinist studies.

If all this sounds a bit lurid, it must be remembered that the present situation in China is more than a bit lurid. The Chinese masses were first condemned to acute undernourishment in order to pay for forced industrialization. Despite a good start on the industrial front, acute industrial breakdown then followed. And although the industrial breakdown was tolerated and the new slogan, "All Aid to Agriculture," was proclaimed, the last harvest brought no relief.

As already contended in this space, the facts therefore suggest that China is now in the grip of a remorselessly descending spiral. The most obvious way the spiral can be broken, massive, immediate Russian aid, can be ruled out with confidence.

Another way the spiral can be broken is for really enormous numbers of Chinese to die. The numbers would have to be enormous—say a quarter of the Chinese population or about 150,000,000 people. Much less would not adequately adjust the troublesome land-to-population balance.

There is some evidence that a reversal of the former upward trend of Chinese population has already occurred. Refugee testimony is full of mentions of hunger-induced menstrual difficulties among women, sharp drops in village populations, and the like. But what has happened so far is a trickle, at best, compared to the flood of mortality that has to be expected eventually, if the present organized undernourishment of the Chinese masses is much further prolonged.

Meanwhile, the Peking leadership, ruthless and unflinching, is proclaiming its determination to force ahead under "the three Red banners, the general line, the great leap, and the farm communes." Even if this year produces a good harvest, which is unlikely, forging ahead "under the three Red banners" means a rough patch ahead for China such as no nation in recent history has experienced.

In these circumstances, the question arises whether too many can die, even in an iron police state. It is well to note, in fact, that the third and only remaining way China's descending spiral can be broken is by an internal explosion. Such an explosion would not necessarily produce a non-Communist China. But even if it only produced new leaders taking a wholly new direction, the explosions would be heard around the world.

one by making demands the steel companies wouldn't meet, he would have been in trouble with his own union.

He knew the cards were stacked in his favor for a settlement, and has been able to "look good" to the public on something that would have come about anyway, whether he intervened or not.

STEEL PACT WINNER—Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg and President Kennedy are taking bows for their work in successfully heading off a steel strike this summer. However, there is word in Washington that the real winner in the episode was David J. McDonald, president of the Steel workers.

The "settlement" agreed upon is computed to mean about 10 cents more an hour in "fringe" benefits for the steel workers, with no increase in pay at least until June 30, 1963. However, some sharp pencil boys in the industry are letting it be known that when the figures are all in, the increase will be nearer eight than 10 cents.

Besides, they claim that McDonald was on a terrible spot. His union was dead set against a steel strike, and if he provoked one by making demands the steel companies wouldn't meet, he would have been in trouble with his own union.

However, now he can claim that he settled at the behest of the President and the secretary of Labor, and let them bear the political onus for any recriminations that may develop of events prove that the settlement was for less than the workers were led to believe.

Persistent Bronchitis Is Cause For Concern

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Every young man and woman with chronic bronchitis should go to a hospital and look at the more advanced cases of the disease. What they see should help them give up smoking and eliminate all other sources of irritation in the nose, throat, mouth, sinuses, and bronchi. Many persons would go so far as to turn over a new leaf and start a health building routine.

Bronchitis is inflammation of the lining of the bronchial tubes. All of us have experienced the acute variety as part of an ordinary cold. This is responsible for the coughing that takes place when infection settles in the chest. The acute attack usually subsides in a week or two, but chronic bronchitis suffer for months or years.

Initially, the victim of chronic bronchitis is bothered after an attack of flu or other respiratory disorder. The infection subsides but the individual continues to hack and spit for several weeks, which is blamed on smoking. But as time goes by, colds become more frequent and coughing spells last longer until they become an everyday affair.

The barking is worse in the morning and evening and is aggravated by damp or cold weather. Larger and larger amounts of heavy mucus are expelled as the bronchi become more and more irritated. So long as the individual can blame smoking, he is unconcerned about this condition. Little does he realize that the membranes are infected and the years of irritation are causing irreparable damage.

The membranes do not function properly when the infection becomes deep seated. The sufferer coughs frequently because mucus is secreted constantly. In time, the absorption of oxygen is affected and shortness of breath occurs.

Complete disability takes place when the individual must gasp for air when sitting or lying flat in bed.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on bronchitis if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

SHOULDER BURSITIS
B. L. writes: Would the constant use of a needle and thread in sewing, alternating with day long driving of a car by a woman in her early seventies, bring on bursitis of a shoulder?

REPLY
Bursitis may follow unusual strain but it is surprising how often it develops for no apparent reason in persons who lead a sedentary existence. Sewing has nothing to do with bursitis in this area. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bursitis.

MALIGNANT MELANOMA
E. F. writes: What is melanoma cancer?

REPLY
Malignant melanoma usually arises from a mole that becomes cancerous. Removal always is suggested when a mole increases in size, changes in color, itches, or is surrounded by a red (inflammatory) halo. Such changes should not be neglected. The transformation to cancer may be slow.

WHAT CAUSES BLINDNESS?
A. S. writes: What other diseases besides glaucoma lead to blindness?

REPLY
Other causes of blindness include cataract (senile), crosseye, diabetic retinopathy, hypertension, detached retina, ocular injuries, poisonings, hereditary conditions and uveitis. Many of these conditions can be prevented if detected and treated early.

SORE MUSCLES
R. G. writes: Is polymyositis that affects the muscles a new disease?

REPLY
No. This is a form of muscular rheumatism with aching and tenderness of several groups of muscles. Poly means many and myositis is inflammation of a muscle.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Post Office Undercuts Agriculture In Dealing With Two Congressmen

By Drew Pearson

big real estate deals in nearby Maryland.

Rush Announcement
On April 12, just as agricultural officials were begging Grant to vote for the farm bill, another branch of the Kennedy administration—the Post Office Department—handed his chief rival, Frank Boykin, a choice politician plum in the form of a new Post Office in Mobile.

The Post Office rushed out an announcement—quite unnecessarily—assuring Boykin that a site had been selected and a general post office would be built soon. The announcement came from Joe Doherty, in charge of Post Office facilities.

On April 13, Boykin's rival, Congressman Grant, shied away from a vote for Kennedy in the Agriculture Committee.

It's now admitted at the Post Office Department that Boykin has known the planned site of the post office for one year.

"Isn't this property owned by Boykin?" the Post Office was asked.

"We don't know," was the reply, "but that won't make any difference since the land will be taken by condemnation."

"Don't you think Boykin has enough influence with Mobile condemnation experts or juries to get a nice price for this land for himself or friends?"

On this point the Post Office was noncommittal.

Note—the debonair Congressman from Mobile has been so worried over losing his election race that he spent about $150,000 for a personal mailing to 800,000 statewide voters, also paid the editor of the Choctaw Advocate to write a favorable editorial about him. Thanks to the Post Office, Frank now won't have to worry; secretary of agriculture Freeman will.

No U.S. Flag For U.S. Steel

On the Monday after U. S. Steel's Roger Blough threw in the price sponge to John F. Kennedy, Juan Perez Alfonso, Venezuelan Minister of Mines, arrived for lunch.

The Venezuelan Cabinet member had been invited by the U. S. Steel chairman some time in advance, and since U. S. Steel owns one of the biggest iron ore mountains in the world next to the Orinoco River, it would have been diplomatically to cancel the date—despite the hectic turmoil over steel prices.

(Copyright 1962, By The Bell Syndicate)

Perez Alfonso is a man who has lived for many years in exile. He is a Democrat who is not afraid to tangle with big business. He is also a man not without humor.

"I saw the Shah of Iran riding up the street as I came in," he greeted the U. S. Steel chairman, "and I saw him looking up at your building as if he was wondering why there was no flag on it."

"Is that so?" replied Blough. "There were flags everywhere, but here was the tall U. S. Steel building with no Iranian flag and no American flag," the Venezuelan minister continued his gentle ribbing.

U. S. Steel officials made no further comment. They did not elucidate as to whether the omission was accidental or whether it was prompted by the feeling that at that particular moment they would like to secede from the Union.

Army Censorship
Maj. Arch Roberts, former aide to Gen. Edwin Walker, squawked to high heaven because the Army censored his proposed speech before the DAR. However, the Army, though not revealing the inside facts, had good reason to be leery of Roberts.

This column has previously revealed how the major's name came up in a secret meeting of New York Chapter 26 of the John Birch Society where Gene Groves, a newsman who penetrated the meeting, reported that a Mrs. Byron announced:

"Our letter-writing campaign is going magnificently. And Major Roberts is doing a wonderful job. His whole career would be in danger if the Army knew he was working with us. But be sure to use your names, the names of other groups to which you may belong, operate through other organizations. We must not associate the campaign with the John Birch Society."

When Jack Anderson, my assistant, telephoned Major Roberts in Fort Lee, Va., to ask "Are you a member of the John Birch Society?" Roberts replied: "I don't care to comment."

He offered, however, to send Anderson some of the "pro-blue" material which he had provided General Walker.

Note—Major Roberts has been using franked envelopes of Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina to circulate material attacking the Overseas Weekly, the GI journal which first exposed Walker's activities.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The connection between happiness and kitchen garbage seems to be remote. But it is there. The Murrees are aware of it. They don't discuss it, not even between themselves. It's a secret symbol—unsung and unmentioned—like a new girdle.

Paddy Murfee has always been a good man, but his boiling point is low. He has his own radio shop in Flatbush for as long back as I can remember. He was always short and stout and he had a rocking horse gait and a wise-guy's manner of speaking out of one corner of his mouth. Then he grew up through his own hair and he began to look like on Easter egg.

He married Tessie Mayes before the war. No one ever entered Tessie in a contest. Food was her great love. She would eat anything that wouldn't eat her first. On her first date with Paddy, he took her to Lundy's Restaurant and when she finished the nesselrode pie, she smacked her lips and said to the waiter: "Start with the steamed clams again."

This marriage was made in Heaven. Paddy loved food, too, and he adored Tessie. He didn't have his own shop in those days, but it didn't take long for him to get one. When television came into being, he expanded the one window store, and took a second one. If he hadn't had a bad temper, Paddy would have owned a string of shops by now.

But, every time a customer asked a simple question like: "The last time you fixed this condenser it cost $8; how come it's $13 this time?" Paddy would emit a roar of outrage and someone would have to run for a putty knife and scrape him off the ceiling.

Tessie said that every time Paddy picked up a new customer, he dropped one. In any case, they were reasonably happy. In time, they were blessed with two daughters: Muriel and Patricia. They bought a six-room house out on the island, and life was a dream.

The children were in their teens when Paddy began to take dancing lessons. The instructors told him he was great; a natural. The truth is that his feet have the tempo of a tired elephant. Paddy referred to believe the instructors. He gave up bowling and took up ballroom dancing.

He was whirling with Tessie three and four nights a week. Her feet were in no mood for abuse; they quit every morning when she got out of bed. She tried to tell Paddy, as gently as possible, that she was no dancer. When that didn't work, she told him that he was no dancer.

This led to middle-of-the-night battles. He called Tessie fat, and lazy, and a few other things not quite so subtle. This brought tears and tears brought absences from the house. Something which started out as a minor marital disagreement grew and grew until Paddy finally left home.

For a time he appeared to lose his mind. He frequented cheap dance halls at night, sent money to Tessie, and enclosed threatening notes. All of us who knew him were shocked when he went to another state and sued for divorce. He got it.

So far as I know, he engaged in no romance. His sole interest was to prove that he was a great dancer. He was proving it at ballrooms all over New York. The cost in arch supporters alone would have bought him another radio store.

The ironic point is that his business did not suffer. Dancing seemed to cancel his aggression. Paddy seemed more tolerant of opinions other than his own. He was—well, the word mellow is exaggerated.

A few nights ago, Kelly and I saw him in New York. He didn't see us, so we didn't bother to say hello. However, the waiter at our table knew Paddy and he pointed out that Muriel was dancing with Tessie. I took another look. If it was Tess, she was a lot thinner and somewhat older looking.

They appeared to be happy. I asked the waiter if he knew the score. He said that Paddy had become serious with another woman because she admired him. One night, they had a little dispute and she told him her true thoughts about him and his erratic feet.

Paddy quit her, and started courting Tessie. It would have killed him to admit he had been wrong, so she didn't press the point. They were remarried quietly. The first night home, it was Patricia who remembered that, after dinner, Paddy always took the garbage out.

No one mentioned it. Paddy finished eating, stood and stretched, and went to the kitchen and heaved the garbage can. The three girls at the table looked at each other and burst into tears. "Isn't it good," Muriel said, "to have daddy home again?"

The connection between happiness and garbage seems remote. But it's there.

Auto Safety Check Begins In Westernport

Red Men Sponsor Annual Inspection

WESTERNPORT — Eighty-three autos were checked in the first day of the Red Men's safer highways campaign here, and the inspection will continue today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

Black Hawk Tribe 131, Order of Red Men, is sponsoring the annual safety check, and according to Earl Eilliam Conn, one of the sponsors, a total of 602 cars were inspected last year. The number is expected to be exceeded by the close of the current campaign.

The inspection station is located next to the A&P Market, at Male's Esso Station on McCoolle Road. Inspection crews will be on hand daily from noon until dark.

In Saturday's inspection, there were two mechanics, a tire man and four checkers assisting with the work.

Most of the cars inspected were in safe and sound condition, the checkers reported. One car was rejected for a smooth tire on a front wheel and three had faulty windshield wipers.

The auto inspection covers 10 safety factors, and the purpose of the program is to make all drivers more safety conscious and also to point out defects or possible causes of mechanical failure or mishap, which the driver might overlook.

The Red Men will hold their state convention in Salisbury, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, and a large delegation from here will attend, traveling by chartered bus. Mr. Conn who is Junior Great Sagamore, a state officer, will be seeking election to Senior Great Sagamore.

All motorists in the area are invited to take advantage of this safety inspection, Mr. Conn said.

Rev. Millard Floyd Guest Speaker At Kiwanis Club

KEYSER — A program in keeping with Holy Week was held by the Kiwanis Club Wednesday evening in the Rosemont Restaurant with Rev. Millard Floyd, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church as the speaker.

In his talk to the men Rev. Floyd spoke of the danger of lukewarm rights as well as radical rights and of the evergrowing evidence of indifference.

"Some of us," he said, "are only lukewarm, not too enthusiastic about anything." He then asked the members to consider the dangers which exist, reminding them that "because of our relation of God in our own commitment we must be concerned."

He then spoke of the growing neglect of Bible readings, prayer, Christian Witness and asked the Kiwanians what they thought about the impact being made on the world.

He said that this is the time "when we should all re-examine ourselves, get ourselves in condition, that we are warmhearted enough to influence others and never need to worry about the Communists outwitting or outsmarting us."

Rev. Floyd said the Lenten season is a time of searching of heart, penitence, prayer, sacrifice, and self-denial with the idea of getting closer to the Cross of Christ and its great message to the world.

He was introduced by Harold Wimer, program chairman. President Eddie Daskal presided at the business meeting. Joseph Wimer led group singing of hymns prior to the dinner and Rev. Donald D. Anderson gave the invocation.

Next week the club will meet at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church with the program being conducted by the Brownie Troop which the club sponsors. Mrs. John Stephen is the leader.

OAKLAND — John M. Patterson will be tried by a petit jury this morning in Garrett County Circuit Court on a charge of assault.

Patterson was indicted by the March Term grand jury for assaulting Earl Zepp, Oakland business man. The trouble apparently stemmed from a court trial of a few months ago.

There were originally three charges against Patterson. One charge was for assault, beating, wounding and ill treating the plaintiff, another was on a charge of parking an automobile illegally on the Turkey Neck road, and the third charged him with putting him in fear of being beaten and will to do him bodily harm, for which Zepp asked that Patterson be placed under a peace bond. The two cases have never been heard up to now.

Route To Link Five States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate subcommittee hearings on a proposed 350-mile Allegheny Parkway through West Virginia will open May 9, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., announced Monday.

Byrd said that the hearings would be conducted by Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Public Lands Subcommittee.

The proposed parkway would begin at Hagerstown, Md., and pass through West Virginia, ending near Cumberland Gap on the Virginia - Kentucky - Tennessee border.

The highway probably would cross the West Virginia counties of Jefferson, Berkeley, Morgan, Hampshire, Mineral, Grant, Hardy, Randolph, Pocahontas, Greenbrier, Monroe, Summers, Mercer, McDowell, Mingo and Fayette.

Auto Safety Check Begins In Westernport

Red Men Sponsor Annual Inspection

WESTERNPORT — Eighty-three autos were checked in the first day of the Red Men's safer highways campaign here, and the inspection will continue today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

Black Hawk Tribe 131, Order of Red Men, is sponsoring the annual safety check, and according to Earl Eiliam Conn, one of the sponsors, a total of 602 cars were inspected last year. The number is expected to be exceeded by the close of the current campaign.

The inspection station is located next to the A&P Market, at Malc's Esso Station on McCoolle Road. Inspection crews will be on hand daily from noon until dark.

In Saturday's inspection, there were two mechanics, a tire man and four checkers assisting with the work.

Most of the cars inspected were in safe and sound condition, the checkers reported. One car was rejected for a smooth tire on a front wheel and three had faulty windshield wipers.

The auto inspection covers 10 safety factors, and the purpose of the program is to make all drivers more safety conscious and also to point out defects or possible causes of mechanical failure or mishap, which the driver might overlook.

The Red Men will hold their state convention in Salisbury, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, and a large delegation from here will attend, traveling by chartered bus. Mr. Conn who is Junior Great Sage, a state officer, will be seeking election to Senior Great Sage.

All motorists in the area are invited to take advantage of this safety inspection, Mr. Conn said.

KEYSER — A program in keeping with Holy Week was held by the Kiwanis Club Wednesday evening in the Rosemont Restaurant with Rev. Millard Floyd, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church as the speaker.

In his talk to the men Rev. Floyd spoke on the danger of Luke-warm rights as well as radical rights and of the evergrowing evidence of indifference.

"Some of us," he said, "are only Luke-warm, not too enthusiastic about anything." He then asked the members to consider the dangers which exist, reminding them that "because of our relation of God in our own commitment we must be concerned."

He then spoke on the growing neglect of Bible readings, prayer, Christian Witness and asked the Kiwanians what they thought about the impact being made on the world.

He said that this is the time "when we should all re-examine ourselves, get ourselves in condition, that we are warmhearted enough to influence others and never need to worry about the Communists outwitting or outsmarting us."

Rev. Floyd said the Lenten season is a time of searching of heart, penitence, prayer, sacrifice, and self-denial with the idea of getting closer to the Cross of Christ and its great message to the world.

He was introduced by Harold Wimer, program chairman. President Eddie Daskal presided at the business meeting. Joseph Wimer led group singing of hymns prior to the dinner and Rev. Donald D. Anderson gave the invocation.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate subcommittee hearings on a proposed 550-mile Allegheny Parkway through West Virginia will open May 9, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., announced Monday.

Byrd said that the hearings would be conducted by Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Public Lands Subcommittee.

If authorized, the scenic highway would cost up to $300 million in federal funds, Byrd said. The National Park Service estimated originally that the parkway would cost about $500 million but later revised the amount downward.

Byrd said that the highway would intersect as many as 16 West Virginia counties and would touch four other states—Virginia, Maryland, Tennessee and Kentucky.

The proposed parkway would begin at Hagerstown, Md., and pass through West Virginia, ending near Cumberland Gap on the Virginia - Kentucky - Tennessee border.

The highway probably would cross the West Virginia counties of Jefferson, Berkeley, Morgan, Hampshire, Mineral, Grant, Hardy, Randolph, Pocahontas, Greenbrier, Monroe, Summers, Mercer, McDowell, Mingo and Fayette.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., is among co-sponsors of a bill proposing the highway. Similar bills have been introduced in the House by Reps. Elizabeth Kee and Harley O. Staggers, both D-W. Va.

Steve Barber Tosses Second Sunday Victory

Four Homers Pace Baltimore Attack, Daniels Is Loser

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles belted four home runs over the left field fence in the new D.C. Stadium Sunday in thumping the Washington Senators 8-3 before a crowd of 10,713.

It was the sixth straight defeat for the Senators.

Jim Gentile and Jackie Brandt hit their first homers of the season, Brooks Robinson his second and Gus Triandos his third. Brandt's was the longest hit in the four games played here — over 390 feet.

Barber Wins Second Steve Barber, on weekend pass from Ft. Bragg, N.C., won for the second straight Sunday.

Robinson and Gentile hit their home runs off Bennie Daniels, the starting and losing pitcher, and Triandos and Brandt connected in the eighth and ninth off Tom Cheney, third Senator pitcher.

The other four Baltimore runs were batted in by Marv Breeding with a single and double.

The Senators scored in the second on Bob Johnson's double and Dale Long's single, added an unearned run in the fourth on Chuck Cottier's single, and Long drove in another unearned tally in the sixth inning.

Hansen Is Rusty Baltimore's Rusty Hansen, on 30-day leave from the Army, stated to shortstop for the first time this season and showed his rustiness.

Hansen committed three errors and dropped Gene Woodling's pop to short left in the eighth, which Woodling received a hit on.

Barber allowed six hits, walked one and struck out four.

Reds Defeat Giants, 6-4

Wind Blown Hits Plague Both Teams

CINCINNATI (AP)—The San Francisco Giants should be accustomed to the wind but it was the Cincinnati Reds who played it for all it was worth Sunday, blasting the Giants for a 6-4 victory.

With a strong wind blowing direct to center field, hits soared over and off the fences.

Vada Pinson, Johnny Edwards and Wally Post hit homers for the Reds and Tom Haller got one for the Giants. There were seven doubles.

Joey Jay, although needing help from Dave Sisler in the eighth, was the pitching victor with Jack Sanford the loser.

Ortiz To Fight For "The Right Kind Of Money"

New Yorker Takes Title From Brown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Curly-haired Carlos Ortiz, the new lightweight champion of the world, announced Sunday he would fight anyone — "for the right kind of money."

The personable New Yorker was a surprisingly easy winner in 15 rounds Saturday night over the old champion, Joe Brown. Ortiz picked up $17,500 for his share, which will be about a third of what he'll ask from now on.

In the offering are such possibly rich fights with featherweight champion Davey Moore, welterweight champion Emile Griffith or Dillio Loi of Italy, the world junior welterweight titleholder.

A return match with the 35-year-old Brown seems most remote. Both camps said there was no oral or written agreement for a rematch.

Brown, as the crowd and national television audience could see, was anything but the Brown who had ruled the 135-pound division for 5½ years.

It wasn't that Brown didn't try. He still was trying desperately to land a knockout punch up to the final bell. But he was so ineffective against the younger, stronger and sharper Ortiz that even Brown was grinning ruefully in the last phases of the match.

Fernandez Faces Giambra Saturday

NEW YORK (UPI)—Florentino Fernandez, hard-hitting Cuban middleweight, takes on the veteran Joey Giambra Saturday at Miami Beach in a 10-round nationally televised bout that features this week's boxing schedule.

Giambra, Buffalo, N.Y., native now living in San Francisco, out-pounded Evardo Armenta in 10 rounds his last time out — on April 2 at Las Vegas, Nev. It was his 73rd professional fight of which he has won 64. Giambra is 31.

The 26-year-old Fernandez, who now makes his home in Miami, Fla., is considered the hardest hitting middleweight currently in the ring. In his only start this year, he lost to Dick Tiger, the No. 1 middleweight contender, at Miami Beach, Jan. 20. In winning 30 of 34 fights, Fernandez has scored 24 knockouts, compared to 30 for Giambra.

Pirates Saddle New York With Ninth Loss, 4-3

Bill Mazeroski's Triple Decides Tilt In Eighth Inning

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bill Mazeroski tripled in a run in the eighth inning Sunday and the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the New York Mets 4-3 in a game in which two modern National League records were tied.

The victory was the 10th for the Pirates and tied the record for most consecutive victories by a club since the start of the season set by the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Mets' defeat also tied a record. It was their ninth straight loss. The mark was set by Brooklyn in 1918 and tied by the Boston Braves in 1920.

With the score tied 3-3, Roberto Clemente opened the eighth with a single and moved to second base when Smoky Burgess bunted safely. Don Hoak bunted Clemente to third and Burgess was thrown out at second. Mazeroski then tripled to deep center, scoring Clemente. Hoak was thrown out at the plate.

Four Homers Pace Baltimore Attack, Daniels Is Loser

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles blasted four home runs over the left field fence in the new D.C. Stadium Sunday in thumping the Washington Senators 8-3 before a crowd of 10,713.

It was the sixth straight defeat for the Senators.

Jim Gentile and Jackie Brandt hit their first homers of the season, Brooks Robinson his second and Gus Triandos his third. Brandt's was the longest hit in the four games played here—over 390 feet.

Barber Wins Second

Steve Barber, on weekend pass from Ft. Bragg, N.C., won for the second straight Sunday.

Robinson and Gentile hit their home runs off Bennie Daniels, the starting and losing pitcher, and Triandos and Brandt connected in the eighth and ninth off Tom Cheney, third Senator pitcher.

The other four Baltimore runs were batted in by Marv Breeding with a single and double.

The Senators scored in the second on Bob Johnson's double and Dale Long's single, added an unearned run in the fourth on Chuck Cottier's single, and Long drove in another unearned tally in the sixth inning.

Hansen Is Rusty

Baltimore's Ron Hansen, on 30-day leave from the Army, stated to shortstop for the first time this season and showed his rustiness. Hansen committed three errors and dropped Gene Woodling's pop to short left in the eighth on which Woodling received a hit.

Peace Victor Over Hyndman Tossers, 2-1

13-Run Ninth
Beats Flintstone;
Mt. Savage Bows

As Frostburg tossed a four-hitger as the Hyndman Merchants, 2-1, in their Pen Mar Baseball League opener yesterday at Hyndman.

The triumph of the defending pennant champions over last year's playoff winners highlighted an opening day card which saw Lonaconing score 13 runs in the ninth inning after two were out to defeat Flintstone, 15-4, and Grantsville's new entry down Mt. Savage, 6-3.

The mid-season duel at Hyndman saw Peace beat lefty Vohn Lehman on Gary Keedy's fifth-inning single which scored Allen Eisel who had tripled. The blow broke a 1-1 tie and Peace made the lead stand for the victory.

Strikes Out Eight

The Frostburg right-hander whiffed eight while walking three. He did not permit a hit after Hyndman scored in the third until one out in the ninth when Johnny Waltman singled.

Lehman was equally tough, allowing only seven bingles, walking three and throwing the third strike past nine batters.

Frostburg opened the scoring in the first when Jim Willetts hit Lehman's first pitch for a single to lead off the frame.

Willetts took third on a throwing error and came home on Jim Rice's base knock to right.

Hyndman tied the score in the third as Lehman beat out a hit to short and took second on an overthrow to first. Don Lowery was safe on a fielder's choice as Lehman beat the tag at third and Bob Bryant walked to load the sacks. Lehman scored as Manager Lou Hite grounded out.

Gets Two Hits

Rice and Keedy each obtained two hits for Frostburg. Eisel's three-bagger was the only extra base hit for the winners. Lowery batted a double and Waltman, Ray Morgant and Lehman singled for Hyndman's four hits.

John May, president of the Hyndman Borough Council threw out the first ball in pre-game ceremonies.

The wild, almost unbelievable ninth inning at Flintstone saw Coach Charley Doyle's perennial tail-enders blow a 4-2 lead as Lonaconing took advantage of five hits, three walks, three wild pitches, a hit batsman, three errors and a fielder's choice to tally 13 times after two were out.

Right-hander Russ Jones was the victim of the uprising after Flintstone had scored three runs in the eighth to go ahead briefly.

Jerry Lonaconing picked up the victory for Conkey in relief. Jones absorbed the loss.

Ellie Fazenbaker and Ike Love paced Lonaconing at the plate with a pair of doubles and a single apiece. Charles Boone had three singles, and Ed Weaver and Don McPhail each had two hits for Flintstone.

Grantsville Explodes

Grantsville exploded for five runs in the third inning, then received excellent relief pitching from David Jones to down Mt. Savage in their opening fray.

The winners were held to five hits but losing pitcher Wayne Johnson walked 10 and his teammates made 10 errors to throw the game away.

Jones held Mt. Savage to eight scattered hits and struck out 12 in six innings of relief work to pick up the victory. Johnson whiffed 14 but was plagued by his own wildness and his team's miscues.

Pay Often had three hits, including a triple which Ken Johnson and Bill Burkett each batted out a three-bagger for the losers. Bill Jones had a double for Grantsville.

Cleveland Sweeps Twin Bill From N. Y. Yankees

End Stadium Jinx,

With 7-5, 9-3 Wins

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians ended two years of frustration at Yankee Stadium and vaulted into the American League lead Sunday when they defeated the New York Yankees, 7-5 and 9-3, behind the stout pitching of Dick Donovan and Gary Bell.

Jerry Kindall's three-run triple was the big blow of a five-run third inning that enabled Donovan to score his third straight victory in the opener. Willie Kirkland's tie-breaking two-run seventh-inning single was the decisive blow of the nightcap. Kindall also starred in the second game with two singles and a double plus a spectacular fielding play.

The Indians, who had lost 19 straight games at the Stadium since May 12, 1960, started the day in a tie for fifth place.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Left-hander Jim Kaat pitched a four-hit shutout and Harmon Killebrew slammed a three-run homer Sunday as the Minnesota Twins completed a sweep of their first series in Chavez Ravine by defeating the Los Angeles Angels 5-0.

Kaat, pitching his first complete game in three starts, struck out 10 and walked none. The only Angel to get beyond second base was Billy Moran, who made it from first to third on an error in the seventh inning.

Cash Slugs Two Homers Tigers Win

Boston Bows, 8-6;
Kline Is Winner

BOSTON (AP) — Big Norm Cash, off to a faster start than either Babe Ruth or Roger Maris, socked two home runs as Detroit defeated Boston 8-6 Sunday.

The defending American League batting king now has hammered six homers in eight games, including three in the past two days.

Cash's 430-foot, two-run belt off loser Bill Monbouquette highlighted a four-run Tiger outburst in the opening frame. His solo drive in the sixth, also his right-center provided insurance at reliever Joe Delock's expense when the Red Sox had closed the margin to 7-5.

Jim Pagliaroni and pinch-hitter Gary Geiger hit solo homers for Boston.

Detroit starter Jim Bunning was not around long enough to get the win. His replacement, Ron Kline, was the winner in an effective cleanup job.

Shaw Pitches Braves To Win

Milwaukee Downs
Los Angeles, 6-3

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The battery of Bob Shaw and Del Crandall led the Milwaukee Braves to a 6-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Sunday. Shaw pitched five-hit ball and Crandall hit a home run and two singles as the Braves won their third game in 11 starts this season.

Only his own fielding lapse prevented Shaw from making his first National League victory a shutout. He made two errors on the first play of the game. The Dodgers capitalized by scoring three home runs, the last two earned run by Tommy Davis after the side should have been retired.

After that, Shaw held the Dodgers to three harmless singles and permitted no one to pass first base. The right-hander did not walk a batter in balancing his record at 1-1.

You can carry 5 passengers plus a large cargo. This vehicle has been checked through the garage and is in A-1 condition. It is a beautiful two tone of brown and beige finish. It is a V-8 with automatic to handle in traffic. The equipment includes radio, heater, defroster, signal lights, outside mirror, plus the small accessories... This car is priced $600 below top NADA book value and can be bought for less than $2000 down.

"Three weeks to go—and it looks better every day."

That's how George P. Mahoney viewed his race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination Sunday, as he paused on Easter Sunday to take stock of his campaign and predict victory for his ticket in the May 15 primary election.

"From the very beginning, this campaign has looked like a winner," Mahoney said in a press release. "As we have progressed, it has been heartening to see how much organizational strength has been added to the grass roots support we have always enjoyed."

"Everywhere we have gone in the state, we have been met with an outpouring of warm welcome which has grown in intensity week by week."

Gov. Tawes, on the eve of a Monday luncheon which will kick off the final phase of his campaign for renomination, again called attention to the additional state aid provided the local subdivisions by his administration.

Tawes said the budget he submitted to the legislature for the current fiscal year appropriated about $15 million in additional state to help local governments hold the line, or lower, their property tax rates.

Cites Allegany Rate

Citing a report in the April issue of Courthouse News, a publication of the Maryland County Commissioners Association, Tawes ticked off some of the accomplishments made by county governments with new assistance.

Quoting the publication, Tawes said Allegany County commissioners approved a 1962-63 budget of $5.9 million while reducing the property tax rate to $1.85, a decrease of 25 cents.

"Now, according to figures compiled by the State Fiscal Research Bureau," Tawes said in a statement, "Allegany County receives $554,681 in additional state aid under this program. That is equivalent to 29 cents on the county's property tax rate."

"In other words, the commissioners reduced the tax rate of Allegany County property owners by 25 cents per $100 of assessable basis and still had money to spare."

In his statement, Mahoney said he and his running mates "feel that the people of Maryland have taken to heart the issues upon which we have chosen to make our campaign."

Points To "Scandals"

"The savings and loan scandals, the dreadful state of our mental hospitals and prison system, the callous tax bite of the Tawes Administration, the deplorable condition of Maryland's secondary road systems, the worsening unemployment picture—all of these we have placed before the voters and offered our suggestions and remedies."

David Hume, another major candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, campaigned in Garrett County Saturday. He suggested a series of small watershed dams be constructed along the upper portion of the Potomac River to help solve unemployment and combat water pollution.

On his airplane flight to western Maryland, Hume and his party were forced to land in Hagerstown when an oil leak developed in one of the plane's two engines. The air trip to Cumberland was resumed in two smaller planes.

Sheehy Heads Man-In-Space Booster Study

ABL Scientist Manages Program

Edward J. Sheehy, assistant manager of the rocket research division at Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory, has been named manager of Hercules Powder Company's manned flight booster program.

C. T. Butler, director of the company's chemical propulsion division, made the announcement, saying:

"The Hercules concept for building giant booster rockets, capable of performing all of the missions of the future, has moved forward at such a rapid rate that it has become necessary to assign a man of great experience and capabilities to direct its expansion. Mr. Sheehy has been instrumental in the development of our concept and has the background of experience necessary for the direction of a program of this magnitude."

Mr. Sheehy attended Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and graduated from the Naval Academy in 1945. Following various assignments aboard ship and as a pilot of aircraft, he attended the Navy Postgraduate School, later attending graduate school at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Lehigh University, where he studied nuclear physics and chemistry. He obtained a master's degree in chemistry from Lehigh University. He was subsequently head of guided missile propulsion research and development in the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance (now BuWeaps). During this period he was also a member of the NATO group of experts on propellants and explosives.

Mr. Sheehy resigned from the Navy in June 1960 and subsequently accepted a position as superintendent of the rocket research department at Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory, operated by Hercules Powder Company for the Navy. He was promoted to assistant manager of the rocket research division in January 1962, the position he held at the time of his new appointment.

Mr. Sheehy is a member of the American Ordnance Association, the American Rocket Society and he serves as a member of the ARS solid rocket technical committee.

The Hercules manned flight booster program will implement the Hercules concept for the construction of giant solid propellant boosters. Under this concept, solid propellant boosters would be built by stacking pie-shaped sectors of propellant in layers, one atop the other, to any desired height, and then wrapping the entire structure in a filament-wound glass fiber case bonded by epoxy resins. Hercules scientists have already demonstrated the practicality of this case structure by its use in many space and missile projects.

The work on the Hercules concept is currently being carried out by Hercules at the Bacchus, Utah, and Rocky Hill, N. J. plants. The first step involves small scale demonstration of the feasibility of the sector concept by building, case wrapping and static firing a sector rocket.

The second calls for a large scale demonstration and testing of the fiber glass case structures.

Subsequent steps call for the construction and test of much larger sector glass-cased rockets, prior to the construction of the giant booster capable of performing space travel missions.

Rotary To Hear Talk

Cromwell Zembower, active for many years in the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company and in the Allegheny-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association, will speak to the Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA.

Emmanuel Church Congregation Meets

The annual congregational meeting of Emmanuel Episcopal Church will be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the parish house, primarily for the election of three men to three-year terms on the Vestry, according to Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector.

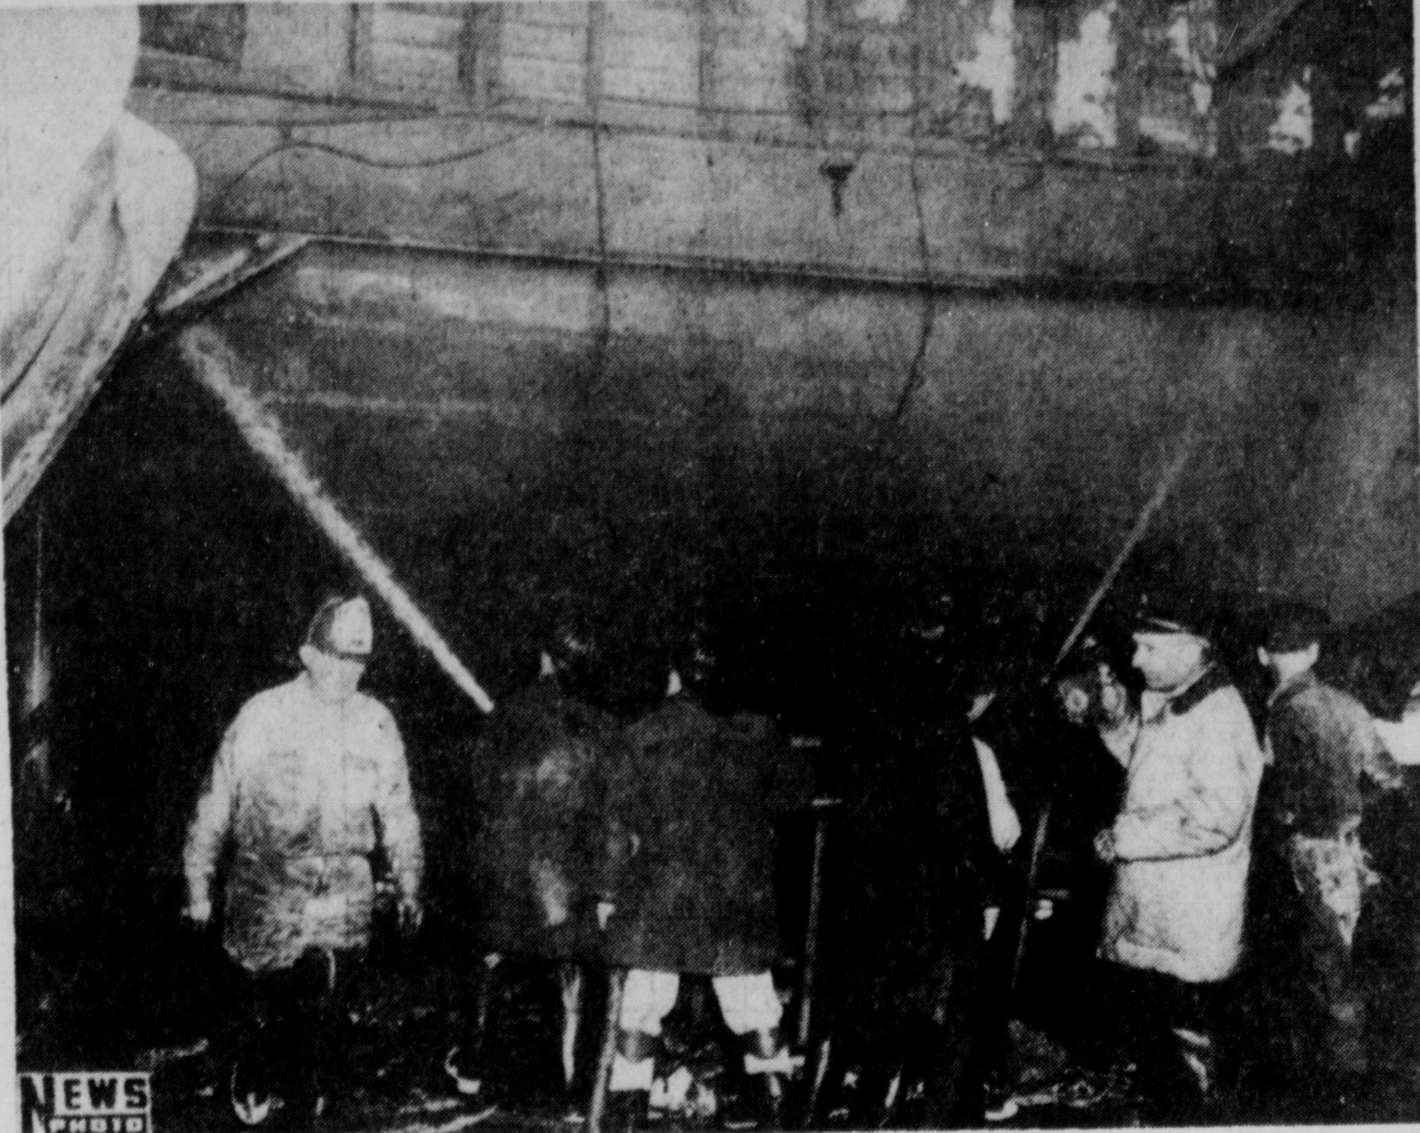

Episcopal congregations in Maryland are required under terms of the Vestry Act of 1793, a measure of the Maryland General Assembly, to meet on Easter Monday each year.

Vestrymen will be elected to take the places of Dr. Charles S. Beamer, Raymond R. Johnston and George M. Young. There are six other vestrymen with one or two years remaining in their terms.

Firemen Planning Benefit Bazar

The bazar committee of Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company will meet at the fire hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock, according to David Kirk, chairman.

The annual benefit bazar is to be held July 9-14, and a number of arrangements must be completed tonight, Mr. Kirk said.

Battle Blaze In Garage

City firemen, directed by Assistant Chief Vincent Wegman, with lantern, play two streams of water on a blaze which damaged the second floor of Gurley's Garage on South Liberty Street early last night. Thousands of spectators turned up to watch the flames which were shooting far into the sky a few minutes after the fire was discovered. Woodrow Gurley, manager, said few cars were on the second floor when the fire broke out. Firemen from Central and West Side fire companies brought the flames under control.

Chance For GI Loans Running Out For Many

GI loan entitlement will end for some World War II veterans on July 25, according to Sam Weston, local VA contact representative.

He pointed out that a loan may not be guaranteed or insured after a veteran's entitlement expires unless the lender's loan application or loan report is actually received by the VA prior to the termination of the borrower's eligibility.

This holds true, Mr. Weston said, even though the veteran may have contracted to purchase a home and may have applied to the lender for a GI loan before his entitlement expired. He advised veterans to complete their loan negotiations well in advance of the date their entitlement comes to an end.

The exact date a veteran's entitlement ends is determined by a formula contained in the governing law. Under the formula, eligibility continues for 10 years from the date of the veteran's discharge from his last period of active service in World War II, plus an additional year for each 90 days active service in World War II.

If a veterans' discharge or release from active service was the result of wartime service-connected disability, the law grants him maximum eligibility without regard to the formula.

July 25, 1962 is the earliest cut-off date for any veteran of World War II. The maximum entitlement date for any World War II veteran is July 25, 1967.

In the case of World War II veterans who have already requested direct home loans and who are now being carried on waiting lists, the VA asks that they do not write nor phone concerning their deadline dates at this time. The VA is planning to send individual notices to each World War II veteran now on the direct loan waiting lists.

Veterans of the Korean War can find their own individual cut-off dates according to the same formula; and minimum and maximum cut-off dates have been established for them, too. However, their minimum eligibility extends until January 31, 1965 and their maximum eligibility will last until January 31, 1975.

Second Baptist Opens Revival Series Tonight

A series of evangelistic services will be held this week at Second Baptist Church, Grand Avenue at Oldtown Road.

Rev. G. W. Bullard, pastor of Gregory Memorial Baptist Church in Baltimore, will be evangelist for the services Monday through Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Mr. Bullard will also preach at the 11 a. m. service Sunday morning.

Rev. Mr. Bullard is a past president of the Baptist Convention of Maryland and is a member of the Home Mission Board of Southern Baptist Convention. Before coming to Gregory Memorial Church about five years ago, he was pastor of Temple Baptist Church, Raleigh, N. C., and served for two years as state chairman of evangelism for North Carolina Baptists. He is a native of North Carolina and a graduate of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Tex.

The local services are a part of a nationwide effort of Southern Baptist Convention, known as Baptist Jubilee Revivals.

Quench Brush Fire

The Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department extinguished a brush fire in Garden City, off Winchester Road, yesterday at 2:55 p. m. Thirteen men and two pieces of equipment were dispatched to the blaze, which burned over a 25 by 50-foot area. Firemen were at the scene for about 45 minutes.

He said the four boys then proceeded to their car parked on a county road near the Fitzwater farm, with Fitzwater following.

The sheriff said he was told that when the car tried to take off, Mr. Fitzwater reported he kept yelling "Halt" before shooting both right tires.

Are Treated

He said he was told the boys left the car and began walking to the cottage of Dr. William C. Fridinger, local dentist.

Then, he said, Mr. Fitzwater called the sheriff's office to report the trespassing incident.

Sheriff Frantz said he found the boys walking along the road a few minutes later, and took the two injured boys to the hospital.

Later, Deputy Sheriff Wilt accompanied Fitzwater back to the farm pond to pick up the fishing rods used by the boys.

Mr. Fitzwater said last night he did not shoot directly at the boys and would "like to think the boys got the wound from the barbed wire."

Sheriff Frantz did not comment on this point, but said the boys "did run into a barbed wire fence as they were escaping from the pond—and that no pellets were found."

"I didn't shoot directly at the boys, and I didn't mean to hurt anyone. But I've had pilfering around here and I've never been able to catch anyone. My patience has about run out," Mr. Fitzwater said last night.

To Meet Tuesday

Allegheny-Garrett County Licensed Practical Nurses, Group I, will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. in Central YMCA. Mrs. Berrie Wagner will preside.

Fire Destroys Roof Of Garage

Flames Eat Way Through Top Of Gurley's Building

A fire of undetermined origin raged through the second floor of Gurley's Garage, 123 South Liberty Street, early last night. Two persons were slightly injured as a result of the blaze.

Firemen from Central and West Side fire company had the blaze under control within half an hour but were unable to leave the scene until about 10 p. m.

No estimate was available last night as to the extent of the damage from the fire which gutted the false ceiling and roof of the garage, and caused considerable heat and water damage to vehicles stored on the second floor of the structure.

Two Are Hurt

One fireman, Richard Mawhinney, from West Side Fire Company, was treated in Sacred Heart Hospital after he ran a nail into his foot, and an elderly man, not immediately identified, was injured when he came out of the garage and tripped over a fire hose.

Firemen were called to the blaze at 7:19 p. m. and saw flames shooting high into the air as they reached the garage.

They said the fire broke out in the middle portion on the second floor of the garage and ate its way into a false ceiling and then broke through the roof.

Damage to the false ceiling, much of which was hanging after the blaze, and to the roof was reported severe.

But firemen said most of the cars stored in the garage appeared to have suffered only minor damage from heat, water and falling debris.

Officials said the fire must have been burning for some time before it broke out of the roof and became apparent.

Central Fire Company attacked the blaze from the inside while West Side Fire Company directed streams of water through the roof into the bed of flames.

Keeps Back Crows

Thousands of residents, some still in their Easter finery, turned up to watch the fire.

They were kept back by the danger area by city police, aided by auxiliary policemen, and later by Sgt. Muri Boggs and Pat, his K-9 companion.

Police ordered the adjoining Strand Theatre cleared as a safety precaution.

Mr. Gurley said relatively few cars were in the building at the time, and said the second floor would have been unattended at the time the fire broke out.

Garage attendants removed all of the cars from the first floor before they could be damaged.

Mr. Gurley said he had no idea how the fire could have broken out, but said there was a possibility it might have been triggered from gasoline leaking from the tank of one of the cars stored on that floor.

He said he had gone to the garage to check up shortly before flames began breaking out, smelled smoke and then saw the flames and smoke pouring out of the roof.

Knife-Wielding Youth Picked Up

City Detective Royce Clayton last night picked up a 15-year-old boy who was reported to have been scaring children on the West Side with a knife.

City Police were notified late yesterday afternoon that a boy was frightening children in the 500 block of Fayette Street with a kitchen knife.

The lad escaped after dropping the knife but was picked up by Detectives about two hours later.

He said the boy was turned over to his mother, who promised to seek treatment for him.

Va. Woman Injured In Rt. 40 Crash

A Virginia woman was injured yesterday afternoon when the car she was driving crashed on U.S. 40 about five miles east of here.

She was identified by Maryland State Police as Elizabeth Helen Hartsch, 52, of 117 South Alfred Street, Alexandria, Va.

She was admitted to Memorial Hospital for treatment of neck injuries and multiple injuries of one arm, and was reported in good condition last night.

The accident occurred at 2 p. m. as the car she was driving failed to negotiate a right turn, at the point where the dual highway reduces to a single lane, struck a tree and plunged into a field below.

The accident was investigated by Trooper T. E. McConnell.

Volunteers Spend Easter Fighting Forest Blazes

Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company spent Easter Sunday afternoon fighting two brush and forest fires.

Chief Harry Martz said 16 men responded to the first alarm at 1:45 p. m. to fight a woods fire in the Sunnyside section along the Western Maryland Railway tracks. The Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company, Western Maryland Railway fire crew and forest rangers also responded. The fire was brought under control by 4:10 p. m.

At 5:10 p. m. 14 men answered a call to a brush and woods fire on the east side of Cash Valley Road which was brought under control about an hour later.

High winds hampered the work of the firemen in both instances.

Sen. Jones Blames Tawes

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sen. J. Alvin Jones, the only Negro in the Maryland Senate, blamed Gov. Tawes Sunday for failure of the public accommodations bill to be enacted by the legislature.

Jones, seeking renomination in the May 15 Democratic primary from the city's 4th District, is backed by political leader James H. (Jack) Pollack.

George P. Mahoney, one of Tawes' major opponents in the gubernatorial primary, also has the support of Pollack.

One of the primary election foes of Jones is Mrs. Verda Welcome, currently a member of the House of Delegates from the 4th District.

In a formal statement, Jones said Mrs. Welcome "arrogantly expects" support "while she espouses the candidacy of Gov. Tawes—the man who more than anyone else was responsible for the defeat of the public accommodations bill in the special session last month of the state legislature."

Forest Fire Quenched On Savage Mountain

Fire fighting crews early last night brought under control a forest fire which burned over some 25 acres of forest land on Big Savage Mountain.

The fire broke out about noon and was reported under control shortly after 8 p. m.

Crews directed by forest wardens and augmented by three truckloads of youths from state forestry camps fought the blaze, which broke out about two miles north of Billy Goat Inn on U.S. Route 40.

Details were not available last night.

Governor Points To County Aid

Chance For GI Loans Running Out For Many

GI loan entitlement will end for some World War II veterans on July 25, according to Sam Weston, local VA contact representative.

He pointed out that a loan may not be guaranteed or insured after a veteran's entitlement expires unless the lender's loan application or loan report is actually received by the VA prior to the termination of the borrower's eligibility.

This holds true, Mr. Weston said, even though the veteran may have contracted to purchase a home and may have applied to the lender for a GI loan before his entitlement expired. He advised veterans to complete their loan negotiations well in advance of the date their entitlement comes to an end.

The exact date a veteran's entitlement ends is determined by a formula contained in the governing law. Under the formula, eligibility continues for 10 years from the date of the veteran's discharge from his last period of active service in World War II, plus an additional year for each 90 days active service in World War II.

If a veterans' discharge or release from active service was the result of wartime service-connected disability, the law grants him maximum eligibility without regard to the formula.

July 25, 1962 is the earliest cut-off date for any veteran of World War II. The maximum entitlement date for any World War II veteran is July 25, 1967.

In the case of World War II veterans who have already requested direct home loans and who are now being carried on waiting lists, the VA asks that they do not write nor phone concerning their deadline dates at this time. The VA is planning to send individual notices to each World War II veteran now on the direct loan waiting lists.

Veterans of the Korean War can find their own individual cut-off dates according to the same formula; and minimum and maximum cut-off dates have been established for them, too. However, their minimum eligibility extends until January 31, 1965 and their maximum eligibility will last until January 31, 1975.

Local Youths Hit By Pellets At Farm Pond

Garrett County authorities last night had completed the preliminary phase of an investigation of the apparent shooting of two Cumberland youths while fishing in a farm pond in the Turkey Neck section near Oakland early Saturday night.

Sheriff James Frantz said last night his office has taken statements from four youths and the dairy farmer involved.

He said neither side has preferred charges and that he will turn his reports over to Garrett County authorities.

Sheriff Frantz said two of the youths, William C. Fridinger, 73 Cleveland Avenue, and Richard Johnson, 15, of LaVale, were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

He said the physician "looked at the back" of young Fridinger, who had a puncture wound in the shoulder, and washed out a similar wound in the Johnson boy's hip. The latter youth was taken back to the hospital later for an anti-tetanus shot, he said.

No Pellets Found

The sheriff said he was told no pellets were found in the wounds.

The shooting occurred about 8:30 p. m. Saturday on the farm of William Edward Fitzwater Jr., 31, and on nearby Turkey Neck Road.

Two companions of the local boys were uninjured. They were identified as Jack Sellers, 15, LaVale, and Robert Robertson, 16, of 1201 Holland Street.

Sheriff Frantz said Mr. Fitzwater told him that suspecting trespassers, heard voices at the farm pond, got a gun and went to the pond.

The Sheriff said Fitzwater told him he first fired into the air and then yelled "Halt" when the boys began to leave.

Sheriff Frantz said the dairy farmer told him he then fired at the edge of the pond, and this, apparently was when the two boys were struck by pellets from the 12-gauge shotgun.

He said the four boys then proceeded to their car parked on a county road near the Fitzwater farm, with Fitzwater following.

The sheriff said he was told that when the car tried to take off, Mr. Fitzwater reported he kept yelling "Halt" before shooting both right tires.

Are Treated

He said he was told the boys left the car and began walking to the cottage of Dr. William C. Fridinger, local dentist.

Then, he said, Mr. Fitzwater called the Sheriff's office to report the trespassing incident.

Sheriff Frantz said he found the boys walking along the road a few minutes later, and took the two injured boys to the hospital. Later, Deputy Sheriff Will accompanied Fitzwater back to the farm pond to pick up the fishing rods used by the boys.

Mr. Fitzwater said last night he did not shoot directly at the boys and would "like to think the boys got the wound from the barbed wire."

Sheriff Frantz did not comment on this point, but said the boys "did run into a barbed wire fence as they were escaping from the pond—and that no pellets were found."

"I didn't shoot directly at the boys, and I didn't mean to hurt anyone. But I've had pilfering around here and I've never been able to catch anyone. My patience has about run out," Mr. Fitzwater said last night.

Fire Destroys Roof Of Garage

Flames Eat Way Through Top Of Gurley's Building

A fire of undetermined origin raged through the second floor of Gurley's Garage, 123 South Liberty Street, early last night. Two persons were slightly injured as a result of the blaze.

Firemen from Central and West Side fire company had the blaze under control within half an hour but were unable to leave the scene until about 10 p. m.

No estimate was available last night as to the extent of the damage from the fire which gutted the false ceiling and roof of the garage, and caused considerable heat and water damage to vehicles stored on the second floor of the structure.

Two Are Hurt

One fireman, Richard Mawhinney, from West Side Fire Company, was treated in Sacred Heart Hospital after he ran a nail into his foot, and an elderly man, not immediately identified, was injured when he came out of the garage and tripped over a fire hose.

Firemen were called to the blaze at 7:19 p. m. and saw flames shooting high into the air as they reached the garage.

They said the fire broke out in the middle portion on the second floor of the garage and ate its way into a false ceiling and then broke through the roof.

Damage to the false ceiling, much of which was hanging after the blaze, and to the roof was reported severe.

But firemen said most of the cars stored in the garage appeared to have suffered only minor damage from heat, water and falling debris.

Officials said the fire must have been burning for some time before it broke out of the roof and became apparent.

Central Fire Company attacked the blaze from the inside while West Side Fire Company directed streams of water through the roof into the bed of flames.

Keeps Back Crows

Thousands of residents, some still in their Easter finery, turned up to watch the fire.

They were kept back of the danger area by city police, aided by auxiliary policemen, and later by Sgt. Muri Boggs and Pat, his K-9 companion.

Police ordered the adjoining Strand Theatre cleared as a safety precaution.

Mr. Gurley said relatively few cars were in the building at the time, and said the second floor would have been unattended at the time the fire broke out.

Garage attendants removed all of the cars from the first floor before they could be damaged.

Mr. Gurley said he had no idea how the fire could have broken out, but said there was a possibility it might have been triggered from gasoline leaking from the tank of one of the cars stored on that floor.

He said he had gone to the garage to check up shortly before flames began breaking out, smelled smoke and then saw the flames and smoke pouring out of the roof.

Sen. Jones Blames Tawes

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sen. J. Alvin Jones, the only Negro in the Maryland Senate, blamed Gov. Tawes Sunday for failure of the public accommodations bill to be enacted by the legislature.

Jones, seeking renomination in the May 15 Democratic primary from the city's 4th District, is backed by political leader James H. (Jack) Pollack.

George P. Mahoney, one of Tawes' major opponents in the gubernatorial primary, also has the support of Pollack.

One of the primary election foes of Jones is Mrs. Verda Welcome, currently a member of the House of Delegates from the 4th District.

In a formal statement, Jones said Mrs. Welcome "arrogantly expects" support "while she espouses the candidacy of Gov. Tawes—the man who more than anyone else was responsible for the defeat of the public accommodations bill in the special session last month of the state legislature."
